Claremont school vote sets off recall drive

An angry citizens group says it will seek the recall of three Claremont school board members who voted Thursday night to shut down the elementary school program at Sycamore School and replace it with San Antonio Continuation High.

The board voted 3-2 in two separate actions providing for the Sycamore changeover, with members William Anderson, Ernest Taylor and Beverly Shacklett taking the affirmative stand.

More than 300 parents and children outraged by the surprise move held an impromptu town meeting immediately after the board had finished its special 40-minute meeting at Condit Elementary School.

Anderson had made the motion that, effective the 1976-77 school year, San Antonio High would be conducted at the Sycamore facility.

Anderson was joined in voting "yes" by Mrs. Shacklett and board president Taylor. Mary Ellen Kilsby and Arthur Steffen voted no.

Earlier, the same trio had voted "yes" to an Anderson motion that the present elementary school program at Sycamore School should be discontinued at the end of the present school year.

Just as Taylor adjourned the meeting, Jim Cooke of the Citizens of Quality Education, which has sued the school board and the school district to keep Sycamore and La Puerta Intermediate School open, stood up and inquired: "Is this board ignorant of the facts?"

To the audience he said, "We don't want you to leave because we are going to hold a town meeting."

One hour and 25 minutes later, the group had chosen an 11-member steering committee which would report back at a meeting scheduled next Thursday night at a site to be decided.

Named by acclamation to the committee were: John Moore, Cooke, Charlene Martin, Janet and Hollis Allen, Dianne Ring, Maralyn Tipping, Emily Fay, Fran Drake, Dwight Smith, and Beth Huffine.

Whereas only four persons in the audience asked permission to speak at the board meeting, more than 75 aired their views on either forcing the board to call an election to decrease the $1.03 tax override per $100 assessed valuation granted by the voters in March, 1975, or recalling one, two or three board members. They decided on three board members.

A show of hands indicated that the huge majority of those present were against an initiative petition calling for an election to decrease the override.

Most felt that the educational program would suffer if such an election were held.

Wynne S. Furth, attorney, hired by the CQE and Ralph A. Spaulding, a Claremont resident, to represent them in their suit against the board and school district, explained that the board could not close schools without following certain state laws, such as filing an environmental impact report.

She said that the board didn't file a negative declaration.

"This is a very polite lawsuit," she said.

She explained that the suit is asking the court to issue a writ of mandate which would require the board to prepare an environmental impact report.

"This evening's developments do not affect the law suit," she explained.

San Antonio Continuation High with 125 students is in its third year at a district site at College and San Jose avenues.

Group members recalled that the board did not discuss at all the moving of San Antonio High before a vote was taken.

Cooke called for the group to "take a straightforward, streamlined approach."

The school board at its regular meeting Monday night reviewed statistical data prepared by District Supt. R. S. Kirkendall about future housing in northeast Claremont which would impact the district, and decided to wait until the special meeting Thursday night to take any action on its vote of June 2, 1975 on the closings of Sycamore and La Puerta. The closings are intended as a money-saving move.

Mrs. Kilsby said she was not satisfied "with a plan that gives the district one less facility. Economics do not dictate the move."

She said that the board should support Kirkendall's recommendation to keep Sycamore open another year.

In a memo, Kirkendall explained that he did not believe any further action needs to be taken at this time regarding La Puerta.

The board's action June 2 was that effective the 1977-78 school year, the present intermediate school program at La Puerta be discontinued.

MOTHER'S PRAYERS ANSWERED

Moises Oleaga, 17, of Boise, Id., stands on the ledge of a three-story school building Thursday and threatens to jump as his father and a priest speak to him. Meanwhile, from the street, his mother, Sabina, stretched her hands upward in prayer. They were answered two hours later when the youth returned to safety.

$894,000

Medi-Cal plan delay will cost taxpayers

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Taxpayers will be stuck with an extra $894,000 bill because of postponement of a Medi-Cal administrative cost holddown plan, state Department of Health officials say.

However, Legislative Analyst Alan Post warns counties that they "had better jolly well get on with staff reductions" because Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. won't budget more than he feels is necessary.

Faced with objections from officials from Los Angeles and other counties, the Joint Legislative Budget Committee this week decided not to act on the plan until public hearings are held.

The Department of Health estimates that between now and April 1 counties will spend $894,000 more than they would have been allowed under the proposed restrictions.

Department officials decided last year to cut into the 30 per cent annual increases of recent years in Medi-Cal administrative costs. The goal is to keep counties within the $94.6 million budgeted by the state for county administration in the current fiscal year.

Basically, the counties were told they could spend between 10 per cent and 20 per cent more in the second half of 1975-76 than they did in the first six months.

Counties are balking at the idea because they have built-in salary obligations, such as cost-of-living increases, said Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, a committee member.

Counties are in a "real squeeze." Lanterman said. "They can't cope with it. Los Angeles says, 'no, we can't live within that.' "

The holddown formula allows Los Angeles County a 14 per cent increase, one of Post's aides said at Wednesday's meeting.

Wholesale prices dip again, but jobless rate unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second consecutive monthly decline in wholesale farm prices eased inflationary pressure in December, but there was no improvement in the nation's stubborn unemployment rate, the government reported today.

In separate reports, the Labor Department said wholesale prices fell a seasonally adjusted four-tenths of one per cent last month while the unemployment rate was unchanged at 8.3 per cent with 7.8 million Americans unable to find jobs.

For the year, unemployment averaged 8.5 per cent, the highest level since 1941, before World War II snapped the nation out of depression. That year, the joblessness averaged 9.9 per cent out of a labor force of 55.9 million.

The December decline in wholesale prices for farm products, processed food and feed more than offset a rise in prices for non-food goods.

Wholesale prices over the past 12 months have risen 4.2 per cent, the smallest annual rise since 1971 when they were up 4 per cent. In 1974, wholesale prices jumped 20.9 per cent.

In November, wholesale prices were up 3.7 per cent over the previous 12 months.

Commuter train crash sends 100 to hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — A crowded commuter train rammed the rear of another train which had stopped at a station today during the morning rush hour. Scores of the estimated 600 persons aboard the two Chicago Transit Authority trains were injured.

There were no immediate reports of deaths in the accident on the Northwest Side.

Hospitals reported treating more than 100 persons. Their conditions were not learned but fire officials said about six of the injuries appeared serious.

Four persons had to be cut free from the wreckage by rescue workers.

The crash occurred in near zero temperatures at Addison Street on the Jefferson Park branch of the electric commuter line, which runs at street level down the median strip of the Kennedy Expressway.

CTA spokesman Tom Buck gave the estimate of the number of persons on the trains. He said the leading six-car "A-train" was stopped when it was rammed by a four-car "B-train" that was not scheduled to stop at the Addison station.

He said two of those trapped in the wreckage were in a motorman's cab of the "A-train." The cab was not occupied by CTA employes at the time and, as frequently occurs, passengers used the empty seats.

Buck said the speed of the "B-train" was not known at the time of impact.

The last serious accident on CTA lines occurred in September 1974 when 41 persons were taken to hospitals and six were admitted. There were four serious accidents in 1974, the worst on May 10 when 224 passengers were taken to a hospital after a similar rear-end collision at a South Side station.

World leaders mourn death of Chou En-lai

By The Associated Press

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was remembered in many non-Communist countries today as a brilliant and remarkable statesman. But the Soviet Union and its allies barely took official notice of Chou's death.

Reflecting the struggle between the Chinese-and Moscow-led Communists, Chou's death of cancer Thursday rated only four lines on page five of Pravda, the official Soviet Communist Party newspaper. The official Czechoslovak paper, Rude Pravo, gave it eight lines on page seven.

In contrast, Chou's death was a major event in non-Communist countries throughout the world.

In Washington, President Ford sent condolences to Peking and said Chou "has left his imprint not only on the history of modern China but also on the world scene."

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who started meeting with Chou in 1971 to arrange the breakthrough in U.S.-China relations, described the late premier as "a very considerable man, a great leader."

Former President Richard M. Nixon said "only a handful of men in the 20th century will ever match Premier Chou's impact on history."

U.S. leaders said the new relationship between the United States and China would continue to develop.

Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki said Chou had been "one of the top leaders of the world" and his death was "a great loss not only for China but for the whole world."

Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau expressed "deep sadness" over Chou's death. Former Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam called Chou "one of the giants of modern world history."

The United Nations flag was ordered flown at half mast at U.N. headquarters in New York, and Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim praised Chou for "dedication to the fostering of better understanding among nations and international peace."

Flags were also lowered to half mast in the island nation of Sri Lanka, formerly Ceylon, and on government buildings in the British colony of Hong Kong. Chou's death was front-page news for both Communist and non-Communist papers in Hong Kong.

A chance of rain?

There is a chance — just a slight chance — that it is going to rain tonight.

If it does, ti will be the first time since Dec. 12-13, when a quarter of an inch fell on the valley.

Barely a half-inch of rain has been recorded in Pomona so far this season, compared with 8½ inches for the same period last year and more than 10 inches two years ago.

The weatherman said there is a 20 per cent chance of precipitation tonight, but by Saturday the weather is expected to return to clear skies.

Temperatures will range in the mid-60s during the day and the low 40s at night.

Weather

Partly cloudy today and Saturday with a 20 per cent chance of rain tonight. Fair Saturday afternoon and Sunday. High today 68, low tonight 43, high Saturday 70. The high Thursday was 73 and the overnight low was 40. Saturday's sunrise 6:57, sunset 5:00.

PVCH slowdown voted by staff

A slowdown of medical services at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, Pomona, is expected because of action taken Thursday night by the hospital's medical staff.

At a meeting attended by 60 per cent of the active medical staff, a majority of those present voiced support of a slowdown of services, according to Dr. Richard Davis, president of the medical staff.

Dr. Davis said no formal vote was taken and the slowdown will be done on an individual basis by each physician.

The doctor stressed that all emergencies will be taken care of at the hospital. He said this includes the services of all specialists in providing emergency medical and surgical care.

Robert Burwell, PVCH administrator, said that there will be no layoff of employes at the hospital.

To date, the patient census at the hospital has been normal for this time of year. However, the surgery schedule has been somewhat reduced, because anesthesiologists and orthopedic surgeons have declined to do non-emergency Medi-Cal surgery.

While the slowdown of medical services in the wake of a crisis over medical malpractice insurance premium rate hikes has been serious in other parts of Los Angeles County, the Pomona Valley area has not been especially affected to date.

San Antonio Community Hospital, Upland, has reported some slowdown in surgeries, but most other hospitals in the area report normal patient care.

Stock market sounding highly optimistic note

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock tickers of Wall Street are carrying a strong message of optimism about the economy these days.

Since New Year's Day, the market has pushed upward in one of the most powerful rallies in years.

In the first 90 minutes of trading today the Dow Jones average of 30 of the nation's largest industrial corporations climbed 1.42 to 909.40.

This added to the gain of 55.57 points for the widely watched indicator in the first five trading sessions of the year.

By calculations of the Hirsch Organization, an investment advisory serivce, it was the best opening week of any year for the market since 1938.

The Dow Jones average of 30 major industrial stocks, the best-known indicator of market trends, has climbed 55.57 points to 907.98 in the first five trading days of the new year. By calculations of the Hirsch Organization, an investment advisory service, it was the best opening week of any year for the market since 1938.

The Dow, which had been wandering sluggishly all through the second half of last year, suddenly jumped to its highest level since November 1973.

The clamor of activity gave the New York Stock Exchange its 10th and third busiest days ever on consecutive days this week.

Stock market gyrations, particularly over such a short time span, can often be misleading and their significance is always subject to a wide variety of interpretations.

Not enough mass in L.A. area mass transit, U.S. says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With a prod from federal money men, area transit officials are going to take another look at a just-decided policy to limit a "starter" rapid transit line between Long Beach and downtown Los Angeles.

Byron Cook, president of the Southern California Rapid Transit District, called a special meeting of the board for Monday after learning of a federal warning that the starter line scope was too confined.

Cook said Thursday that the Urban Mass Transportation Agency has indicated the initial line should be expanded into populous San Fernando Valley, perhaps to Canoga Park. The Los Angeles-Long Beach proposal is for a line 26 miles long.

Cook, who is also a Burbank city councilman, pointed out that federal wishes come close to a command because the government is expected to put up most of the line's projected $820 million cost. Monday's meeting is to decide whether to study an expanded system.

A contrary view came from RTD director Baxter Ward, a county supervisor. Ward, a leader in the push for the 26-mile starter line, said he considers a broader study "wasteful of both time and money."

Ward asserted, "The added delay will give the state more time to further reduce its contribution to the starter line — an amount that has been dwindling at the gross rate (figuring in federal and local funds) of $10 million a week."

But Cook said the federal officials "have given us no choice. The Urban Mass Transportation Agency wants us to look at the entire corridor. Nothing short of that will do."

RTD officials had voted just Wednesday night to focus on the 26-mile line for the start of a future rail transit system.

Bowler back in competition again — with a new heart

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — Dick Battista is getting ready to go back on the bowling tournament tour next week in Las Vegas and become the first heart transplant patient to compete in professional sports.

Battista, 44, got a new heart Oct. 9 at Stanford Medical Center. The donor's name was not disclosed, but the heart, Battista said, was "a very young athlete's heart in excellent condition."

"Because the heart is in such great condition, my doctors have encouraged me to get plenty of exercise," Battista said. "So I do situps, pushups, weight-lifting, ride a bicycle and bowl about 15 games a day.

"In fact, the only reason I didn't bowl earlier is because I wanted to make sure I got my legs in shape. But the heart is ready. The only things my doctors are concerned about are rejection and infection."

Since the 10-hour operation by a surgical team headed by Stanford's Dr. Norman Shumway, Battista has been living in Mountain View, near the medical center. This week he has been visiting the Professional Bowlers Association's $65,000 tournament here.

He said he plans to enter about five more tournaments after Las Vegas then return home to Astoria, N.Y. and his job in NBC's New York City studios.

Battista bowled on the tour from 1968 and won about $60,000 in prizes his first four years, including first at Grand Rapids in 1970. His heart trouble slowed him to only three tournaments in 1974 and two last year before he dropped off the tour in March.

"Last September, after about five straight days without sleeping, I entered a hospital near my home," Battista recalled. "Twenty minutes later I was dead. Everything stopped. They worked three hours to revive me.

"Then they suggested a heart transplant. My muscle tone was excellent and so was my age. What concerned them most was whether I had the will to see it through and live. My wife and two children are enough for me to want that."

Flown west to undergo tests and await a donor, Battista became the 94th heart transplant recipient at Stanford where 97 persons have had transplants since January, 1968.

The survival record among the 97 is six years — held by Willem van Buuren of Mill Valley, Calif., a onetime harbormaster in Rotterdam, Holland. He was 43 when he received a new heart Jan. 3, 1970.

With his exercise program and strict diet, his recovery has been good, Battista said, except for "a very, very mild" attempt at rejection 21 days after the operation. "The doctors told me to expect that," Battista added.

"His heart is stable. There is little cause for concern," said Dr. Donald Ricci, a Stanford cardiologist.

To pay or not to pay?

Doctors near crossroad: insurance bills due

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As pressure mounts in the doctors' work slowdown in Southern California, officials said next Thursday would tell how entrenched the protest will become.

That mid-month date is when huge malpractice insurance rate hikes must be paid by the area's some 10,000 doctors. The boosts average around 400 per cent — meaning some physicians would pay $40,000 a year for coverage.

Until that time, doctors are under a grace period, even though untold numbers have been slowing down or refusing to operate or render patient car since Jan. 1. Doctors say they — and, of course, their patients — can't afford the insurance and that they dare not practice without it.

Jan. 15th may bring a "real crunch," said an aide to Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn Thursday. The aide added "the doctors that have been holding out will then have to pay up or go out of business all at one time."

Executive Director Everett Bannister of the Orange County Medical Association, which has seen little protest action so far, warned Thursday "we may see some spreading into Orange County" if the legislature doesn't solve the crisis within the next 10 days.

But on the other hand, Leon Hauck of the Hospital Council of Southern California, expressed the view that "I think a lot of them (doctors) are going to go ahead and pay it."

Hauck also saw a peaking in the number of protesters, declaring, "I don't think we are seeing a number of new physicians taking part each day."

The slowdown has left 97 of the area's 200-plus hospitals limited in services they provide. The limited facilities, which chiefly handle emergencies, have laid off at least 2,000 employes as a result.

Officials noted the slowdown is difficult to assess precisely because protesting doctors are scattered and often located in private offices, not hospitals. In fact, no one has yet estimated how many doctors are taking part in the protest.

Officials can measure what the slowdown means to public facilities with county-paid staff doctors and to private hospitals where the protesters would normally handle operations. Patients are jamming the 11 public hospitals run by Los Angeles County, while scores of private hospitals are turning patients away and laying off hundreds of nurses and workers because doctors aren't showing up.

"The hospitals are feeling the impact of the slowdown that began Jan. 1," said Hauck. "The question is now, how long can everybody stand the pressure."

Meanwhile, in Sacramento where doctors and politicians are trying to find a solution, state spokesman Bob Nance said "talks are still stalemated."

Officials say there has been no report of a patient being endangered by the massive slowdown. They say emergencies are being handled by many if not all private doctors and by Los Angeles County's government-run hospitals which can accommodate 3,700 in-patients.

A telephone hotline, standby helicopters and paramedic crews are also at the ready to handle emergencies. County officials gave the go-ahead to hire more medical workers if needed and approved extended hours and overtime for county-run facilities.

Thus far the main participants in what officials term "the restriction of services" now nine days old are orthopedic surgeons, obstetricians and anesthesiologists. And the slowdown centers on mammoth Los Angeles County, with its nine million residents, especially in the heavily-populated San Fernando Valley. There is a less-noticeable slowdown in five other Southern California counties, the region covered by Travelers Insurance which has announced the massive rate increases.

Spokesmen point out that the reason the county-run hospitals still operate is that equally high malpractice insurance hikes have been picked up by tax money for staff doctors.

University bombing suspect is arrested

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A fugitive believed to be a member of the elusive Weather Underground was in jail today, facing charges in the fatal University of Wisconsin bombing that put him on the FBI's most wanted list for more than five years.

David Sylvan Fine, once a member of a campus radical group that spawned the revolutionary Weather Underground, waived a removal hearing here Thursday, one day after his arrest.

U.S. Magistrate Richard Goldsmith set bail at $1 million and ordered Fine returned to Wisconsin to face federal charges of sabotage, destruction of property and interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

Fine also is charged with murder in a Wisconsin warrant stemming from the bombing.

An anonymous tip from someone who recognized Fine from a wanted poster led FBI agents to a rented room where the slightly built 23-year-old apparently lived alone, federal authorities said.

"It is reasonable to presume he was a member of the Weather Underground," said Assistant U.S. Atty. S. Steele Langford. "He has been underground for six years."

Fine and three other persons were indicted in the Aug. 24, 1970, bombing of the U.S. Army Mathematics Research Center on the University of Wisconsin campus in Madison. Research physicist Robert Fassnacht, 33, was killed and four other persons were injured in the blast, which caused an estimated $6 million in damages to the building housing the center and the university physics department.

Karleton L. Armstrong, 27, pleaded guilty on Sept. 28, 1973, to state charges of second-degree murder and arson and was sentenced to a maximum of 23 years in prison.

Malpractice developments

By The Associated Press

AREA AFFECTED

The slowdown has limited specialized hospital care, elective surgery and doctor office visits primarily in Los Angeles County and to a lesser extent in Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino and Orange counties.

HOSPITALS AFFECTED

The Hospital Council of Southern California reports that 97 of 234 member hospitals have curtailed services either minimally or severely in the four counties. In Los Angeles County 83 of 160 hospitals affected; in San Bernardino County, 3; in Santa Barbara and Ventura, 10 of 14; and in Orange County, one hospital.

LAYOFFS

It is still unclear exactly how many of Southern California's 136,000 hospital workers have been laid off, but one union says at least 2,000 of its nonprofessional members have been laid off. One hospital, Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, reported layoffs totalling 1,500. Up to 500 workers have been laid off in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties. In addition, some hospital officials have asked their employes to take unpaid leaves to avoid layoffs and other employes are working shortened hours.

REMEDIES

Robert Gnaizda, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s malpractice troubleshooter, says the situation is unchanged, and Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, says it will take several months to resolve the problem, but Dr. Daniel Lang, medical director of Daniel Brotman Memorial Hospital in Culver City says a short-term solution can put the doctors back to work in less than "a couple of months" if the state is willing to defer debate on the long-term reforms.

EMERGENCY AID

Only one hospital in the area, Queen of Angels Hospital in Los Angeles, has reported restrictions on emergency room services, but many facilities say they can only provide first aid for certain injuries and must transport patients to other institutions for special treatment.

INFORMATION

The Los Angeles County Medical Association has set up a 24-hour phone line, 483-6836, to help direct patients to doctors who are working or to medical facilities which can provide the services they need. The county Department of Health Services has set up an emergency center to inform hospitals where their patients can find care unavailable in their own institutions.

Legislators file first gifts report

SACRAMENTO (AP) — For the first time, California legislators have reported to the state on the gifts they received last year — revealing items worth thousands of dollars.

State Fair Political Practices Commission records for Jan. 7 to Dec. 2, 1975, included items such as trips abroad, turkeys, terrariums and a butchered lamb.

There was even a birthday party for Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-South Gate, who listed its value at over $10,000.

Under the law adopted by voters in June 1974, legislators are required to list gifts above $25.

Numerous legislators received free passes to Disneyland, season football tickets, theater tickets and parking passes for college campuses and airports.

The gift givers most often were businesses and individuals in the legislator's district.

Sen. Alan Robbins, R-Van Nuys, wrote his answers in blue pencil, making the copy available to reporters unreadable except for his signature.

Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia, was perhaps alone in his exhibition of humor when he filled in his form. Under gifts, he listed U.S. Navy retirement benefits of over $1,000 and under $10,000, and stated the contributor's occupation was "keeping the sea lanes open."

One influential legislator, Assemblyman John Foran of San Francisco, sees nothing wrong with taking gifts. Foran, the Democratic chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, said:

"If they choose to accept them, I don't think there's anything wrong with that."

Foran, who received a $40 terrarium from San Francisco's Delancy Street Foundation, also went on a $1,042 trip to Israel paid for by two Los Angeles businessmen,

Here is a brief rundown on some other reported gifts:

—Assemblyman Robert Nimmo, R-Atascadero, received the butchered lamb, valued at $40, from the Circle N Roundup. Assemblyman Barry Keene, D-Eureka, got two turkeys, valued at $40, for his staff and family from the Nicholas Turkey Farms.

—Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, was one of several legislators who went on expense-paid trips abroad last year.

Dr. Shlomo Tadmor, a representative of the Israeli government, contributed $1,500 for McCarthy's ticket, and several San Francisco contributors, including Walter Shorenstein, Melvin Swig and Ben Swig, contributed toward the $1,550 trip for McCarthy's wife, Jacqueline.

"McCarthy thought the trip was very worthwhile in that any expansion of knowledge of governments the size of California has to improve the knowledge of the leadership of the Assembly," said Jack Johnson, McCarthy's press aide.

McCarthy said historical material he learned on the trip would help him with his dealings with Jewish groups, Johnson added.

Job training

Juvenile project gets aid, business backing

Pomona Valley Juvenile Diversion Project has been granted $31,600 by the Los Angeles County Manpower Department to provide a work experience program for 20 youths who have been in trouble with the law.

Project director Laurence N. Rubin said the entire grant will be used to pay youths' wages and provide transportation.

Businesses in the valley that volunteered to train and work the youths are Bouchey's Plumbing, Inc., Authorized Air-Conditioning, Val-Lee Pipe & Pottery Man, Victor Graphics, Jerry Byers Sure Fit Auto Center, Pomona Feed & Fuel and Inland Repair Service.

"As well as receiving the excellent pre-apprenticeship training provided by these businesses, the Pomona Valley Juvenile Diversion Project will provide the youths with supportive services in the forms of individual and family counseling, and classroom training in career planning and guidance," said Rubin.

The general intent of the program is to provide the youths with worthwhile job experience and positive direction for their futures.

"All of this," said Rubin, "hopefully will make the youths productive citizens in our community."

China mourning death of Chou

One of century's outstanding statesmen; premier dies of cancer at the age of 78

TOKYO (AP) — China began a week of mourning today for Premier Chou En-lai amid expectations that Teng Hsiaoping, his 71-year-old first deputy, will succeed him as premier. But Chou's more powerful second spot in the Communist party hierarchy may go to 39-year-old Wang Hung-wen, a vice chairman of the party and the boy wonder of Chinese politics.

Chou, China's premier since the Communist victory in 1949 and one of the outstanding statesmen of the century, died Thursday at the age of 78. The death announcement was delayed for 16 hours. He had been in the hospital since he had a heart attack in May 1974, but cancer was given as the cause of death.

The Chinese Embassy said the funeral would be held in Peking on Jan. 15. Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, announced a 107-member funeral committee headed by Mao Tse-tung, the 82-year-old chairman of the Chinese Communist party and for 40 years Chou's mentor.

TENG HSIAO PING
Successor to Chou?

A Peking radio broadcast said that "in accordance with China's customs and protocol reform," no foreign dignitaries would be invited "to take part in the mourning activities."

Hsinhua said all Peking's newspapers devoted the entire front page to the obituary notice with a portrait bordered in black. A black-bordered streamer across each page read: "Eternal glory to Comrade Chou En-lai, great proletarian revolutionary of the Chinese people and outstanding Communist fighter!"

Western embassies in Peking reported that flags were at half staff in Tienanmen Square, the symbolic center of China, but that the emotional reaction was low key. They said crowds gathered in the cold outside newspaper offices to get copies of the People's Daily and to read the news on displays.

A correspondent for the Hungarian news agency MTI reported that redoubled security patrols were circling Peking streets but that otherwise the scene was normal.

Japanese correspondents in Peking said Communist party leaders met Thursday night at the Great Hall of the People and there was speculation the party Central Committee was deciding on Chou's successor.

The reports cited unidentified sources saying a new leadership would be set up after the funeral. They said the Central Committee would hold a plenary session shortly and that the National People's Congress was expected to meet this month.

Observers believed the choice was sure to be Teng, a protege of Chou who was purged in 1967 during the Great Cultural Revolution, returned to power in 1973 and has been running the government since the premier became ill.

Teng is considered a strong advocate of relations between China and the United States, and U.S. officials said because of this Chou's death was not expected to have an adverse effect on contacts between Washington and Peking. Teng became known to American television audiences when he was President Ford's host last month.

However, the funeral committee list, which presumably listed the members in the order of their party standing, placed Wang second after Mao and Teng fourth, following Defense Minister Yeh Chien-ying, 79. This could mean that Wang would inherit Chou's party mantle, putting him in line to succeed Mao as party chairman.

Wang was chosen for high office as a concession to the nation's youth, but his star seemed to waver in recent months. Following Chou's illness, he ceased to accompany foreign visitors to audiences with Mao and in recent months he has made his headquarters in Shanghai. He reappeared in Peking Dec. 17 to preside at the funeral of another party vice chairman, Kang Sheng.

Chou's parents were members of the wealthy Mandarin class, but he was educated at the Nankai School in Tientsin, near Peking, which had a reputation for producing rebels. In 1919, he took part in the May 4 Movement, an uprising of students against the treatment the Western Allies gave China after World War I. The movement produced many Communists, and it was there he met his future wife, Teng Yeng-chao.

Chou in the 1920s clashed often with the authorities, led demonstrations, was jailed from time to time and was a leading member of the Awaken Society of anarchists and Communists dedicated to a new order for China.

From the 1930s he identified himself with Mao, and after the Communists took over China in 1949, he was Mao's first lieutenant in founding and running the People's Republic. In contrast to the enigmatic, withdrawn chairman, he was outgoing, witty, adaptable and gregarious. These traits made him a favorite with foreigners and also helped him to survive the savage infighting of Chinese politics which brought down others who appeared to outrank him.

Though Mao directed the broad lines of policy, Chou ran the government. A long career as negotiator for the Communists, beginning with talks in the 1930s with Chinese Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek, fitted him for the concurrent post of foreign minister, which he held until 1958.

A moderate, his ability to compromise and his acceptability to both sides saved China from total chaos during the Cultural Revolution, which convulsed the party and administration. It was evidently Chou who decided in 1969 that it was time for China to present a new face to the world, to be part of it and to compete in it, to build the Chinese economy and to make China strong and self-reliant.

He restored contacts with many countries, among them several which had been cold or hostile. The period of detente reached its climax with the reconciliation with the United States.

Teenage gun toters triple Buffalo holdup rate

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gun-toting teen-agers are contributing to a tripling of holdups in the Buffalo area, the FBI says, and a city judge contends economic conditions may be partly to blame.

"It seems to be peculiar to Buffalo," said Dennis Gibbs, bank robbery supervisor at the Buffalo office of the FBI. "We have them as low as 14-years-old here. They all seem to carry guns."

Bank robbers in the 17-county western New York area are up nearly 300 per cent, Gibbs said. Fifty bank robberies were reported between July and December of last year, he said, compared with 13 in the same period a year ago.

And while exact figures on the number of teen-age bandits aren't available, authorities say half or more of the hold-ups may have been committed by persons under the age of 20.

The suspect shrugged his shoulders.

"Did you think it would make you a big man in the neighborhood?"

"Yeah, I guess so."

"Did you need the money?"

"Well, yeah, I guess so. I was thinking about getting a car."

Buffalo City Judge Samuel L. Green says several reasons, including economic conditions in Buffalo's black neighborhoods, could be behind the surge in teen-age bank robberies.

The black unemployment figure is thought to be at least twice as high as official state labor figures showing 12.8 per cent joblessness in Buffalo.

"And," says Green, "the black exploitation movie that glamorizes pimps and hoods has become very popular the last few years.

"And the kids identify with these characters and their flashy cars and clothes. The material things become very important to them. And they know their parents can't afford to buy them the clothes and cars they want.

"So they feel denied, and some of them just go out and take it. They rob banks."

Erie County Family Court records, edited to protect those involved, provide graphic detail to the evolution of a 15-year-old bank robber:

"I was hanging around when Tony Smith came up to me and said I owed him $100 for some bet. I didn't remember the bet, and I told Tony that I didn't have any money.

"Tony told me not to worry about it. We were going to hit a bank. He told me to meet him at Pete's house at two that afternoon.

"I met him and Pete and a 14-or 15-year-old kid I didn't know. Tony had his nephew's car, and the four of us drove down Jefferson Avenue.

"Tony handed me a sawed-off shotgun and he said me and the other kid — Joe, I think was his name — that we were to go into the bank and yell, 'Everybody hit the floor! This is a holdup!'

"Me and Joe went into the bank and yelled what we were told. I held the gun and Joe jumped over the tellers' cages and scooped up all the money he could find and put it in a pink pillow case Tony gave him.

"We ran out of there and jumped into Tony's car, and we raced like hell back to Pete's house in the project.

"We were dividing the money up when the cops came in."

Russ cruiser to join Angola force?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet guided-missile cruiser is reported steaming southward along the West African coast, raising the possibility that it could eventually join other Russian Navy vessels in the Angola area.

The heavily armed Kresta 11 cruiser, which sailed out of the Mediterranean, was last reported off Mauritania.

Pentagon sources said the cruiser is expected to reach Conakry, Guinea, this weekend. Soviet naval vessels have operated out of Conakry for about three years, but defense officials said they do not yet know whether the cruiser will stop there or sail on south toward Angola to reinforce a destroyer and two other Russian ships already in those waters.

In any event, the appearance of the cruiser adds to the Soviet naval presence off Africa at a time when the United States is urging all outside parties to withdraw from Angola and leave settlement of the newly independent country's future to the Angolans.

The Kotlin class destroyer and the tanker were about 100 miles off Gabon late Thursday and moving slowly southeastward. The tank

Muskie given TV time to answer Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, has been granted prime time on all television networks for a Democratic response to President Ford's state of the union address to Congress.

The three commercial television networks and the Public Broadcasting Service will carry the Muskie commentary at 9 p.m. EST Wednesday, Jan. 21.

Walkout leaves labor head little choice but to resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The walkout by labor leaders from the President's construction advisory committee appears to leave Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop with little choice but to resign.

However, spokesmen for Dunlop today denied reports that he already has made up his mind to leave the Cabinet post. They said he still is discussing his future with colleages in labor and management.

The secretary, meanwhile, issued a statement expressing disappointment over the collapse of the construction advisory committee.

"I fear that the shrill and emotional pressures of the past few months have now destroyed for a period the possibility of continued labor-management cooperation at the national level on a construction industrywide basis," Dunlop said.

"At some future time, the nation's interests, as well as those of this industry, require a resumption of such a committe for constructive collective bargaining discussions and activities," he added.

Aides to Dunlop said the secretary's decision, expected early next week, will be based on his assessment of his effectiveness in dealing with labor, as well as assurances from AFL-CIO President George Meany that they could continue their close working relationship.

But in resigning Thursday from the Collective Bargaining Committee in Construction, the union chiefs made clear their feelings.

"I don't think anyone can believe he (Dunlop) speaks for the President or the administration," said Robert A. Georgine when asked if labor leaders thought Dunlop's effectiveness had been impaired.

Georgine, president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department, led the walkout by the nine labor members of the panel to protest Ford's veto of a bill that would have broadened picketing rights of construction unions and created a national committee with authority to intervene in local disputes and seek settlements.

The labor secretary drafted the bill and strongly supported it. But Ford, who at first said he would sign it, vetoed it last week after advisers warned that it could cost him conservative votes.

Pomona teacher raped in classroom

A Pomona teacher was raped in her own schoolroom late Thursday afternoon by a youth who threatened to "slit her throat" if she didn't comply.

The victim, a teacher at a north Pomona school, said the youth followed her from a restroom to her classroom where she was working alone. She said that they chatted as they walked and during the conversation the youth told her he used to be a student at that school.

As they reached the room, she said, she told the youth he had better leave because she had a lot of work to do but he followed her inside where he attacked her. During the incident the victim said she did not see a knife, but feared the young man had one.

The rapist was described as a Latin between 17 and 19 years old, 5 feet 9 weighing 150 pounds. He had dark hair which covered his ears and spoke with a slight Spanish accent.

Two mentally retarded CHINO girls reported missing Wednesday by their foster parents returned home this morning claiming they had been sexually molested by a man in an Ontario motel room.

Police said this morning that a 47-year-old Ontario man has been arrested.

The two girls, according to Chino and Ontario police, failed to return to their home Wednesday after school until midnight.

Police said they located a car described by the girls as owned by the man who sexually attacked them at the Huntington Motel, 1514 W. Mission Blvd., in Ontario. Chino, Montclair and Ontario police found the apartment where the incident allegedly occured and waited for the return of its occupant.

At 6:06 a.m. this morning Antonio Gonzales Jaimez, 47, who resides at the motel was arrested for investigation of lewd and mischievious conduct with a child and rape. He was booked in West End Jail this morning in lieu of $5,000 bail.

According to police the two girls were acquainted with the suspect and had gone to his apartment about 6 p.m. Wednesday. Police believe the girls were in the apartment about 6 p.m. Wednesday. Police believe the girls were in the apartment for more than five hours.

Officers said the suspect has a prior arrest record for armed robbery and other offenses.

Three Pomona High School students were arrested Thursday evening by sheriff's deputies who reported finding two illegal weapons in the youths' car.

Two of the youths are 15 and the other 16.

Deputies said they stopped the car in the 1900 block of Orange Grove Avenue in POMONA after noticing that the auto's tail light was not functioning. From outside the car they said they saw a 16-inch billy club and when they searched the vehicle they said they found a pair of nunchakus, a weapon used in martial arts which consists of a 32-inch length of chain between two wooden handles.

The boys, who later were released to their parents, told deputies the weapons were props for a high school play — a claim which couldn't be verified this morning.

An Escondido business man was robbed of his wallet and $95 in cash late Wednesday night on the parking lot of Marie Callender Restaurant at 1030 W. Foothill Blvd. in CLAREMONT.

Lawrence J. Banett, 34, said he was confronted by four young men as he was walking from his car to the restaurant. One threatened him with a pistol and then forced him to crawl beneath a parked car after robbing him.

The armed man was described as a Latin about 19, 5 feet 8 of medium build. He wore a jacket and had curly hair.

ONTARIO police Wednesday arrested a 24-year-old Ontario man in connection with the armed robbery Tuesday of the Thrifty Oil Co. 1862 E. Holt Blvd.

Manuel Garcia Castrejon of 121 E. Francis St., was booked in the West End Jail for investigation of robbery and possession of a controlled substance for sale. Officers said he had drugs in his possession. Bail is set at $17,500.

Police detectives said the suspect walked into the oil company office Tuesday night and pulled a gun on the attendant.

Byrd announces he's running for president

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, one of the Senate's most powerful members, today joined the already crowded field of candidates seeking the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Byrd, 57, announced he would run in the May 11 West Viginia primary election to be held May 11 and did not rule out entering other primary races.

He described himself at a news coonference as a darkhorse candidate who might capture the nomination in the event of a deadlock at the Democratic national convention.

"The national convention may or may not choose from those who travel the presidential primary route," Byrd said.

"In saying this, I do not close the door on my entry into primaries other than the West Virginia primary," he added. "That will be a matter I will have to decide in the days ahead."

Byrd, the Senate majority whip, joins ten other well-known politicians who have already announced their candidacy.

He said he would formally file papers to enter the West Virginia primary next week and will file for election to a fourth term in the Senate at the same time.

Mad bomber of 40s, 50s says give it up

NEW YORK (AP) — The bomber who terrorized New York City two decades ago says those responsible for the recent fatal bombing at La Guardia Airport should give up and tell why they did it.

"I think whoever is responsible for the bombing should turn himself in," said George Metesky, 72. "Maybe something can be done about his situation."

Metesky set off a string of 32 pipe-bomb explosions in the 1940s and 1950s. He was released two years ago after spending 16 years in Matteawan State Hospital.

"The bombing at La Guardia was a terrible thing," said Metesky. "So many people were killed. I know it will be difficult for the man because of the deaths."

Metesky began his series of bombings on Nov. 18, 1940, at a Consolidated Edison plant in Manhattan. He had worked for the utiltity company and had contracted tuberculosis after an explosion in a plant to which he was assigned.

Because the company refused to compensate him for his illness, said Metesky, he began his bombings.

"I wanted to call attention to my grievance," he said. "In all the 32 bombings only 15 people were hurt."

Metesky has fully recovered from tuberculosis and is certified sane by state mental authorities. He spends most of his time caring for his ailing 77year-old sister in Waterbury, Conn.

"I really think it was unthinkable using all that dynamite," he said of the La Guardia bombing Dec. 29 that killed 11. "That's why it will be hard to communicate with the man who planted the bomb. He knows everybody is after him. He hasn't accomplished anything but the loss of life."

Justice dept. to hand over Agnew case papers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Justice Department says it expects to comply today with a federal court order to turn over the first batch of secret papers in the case against former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Last month, U.S. District Court Judge June L. Green ordered the Agnew papers turned over to her for private inspection in a suit filed by two George Washington University law students. The two students, Bruce Fedder and Roy Baldwin, demanded to see the documents under the Freedom of Information Act.

"Judge Green has an order outstanding against the Justice Department," said Mark Sheenan, a spokesman for the Justice Department. "That order requires that we turn over certain documents tomorrow (Friday) — we expect to comply."

The judge said she would examine the papers herself before deciding which materials to make public.

In late 1973, Agnew was accused of accepting $82,500 in illegal kickback payments from architects and engineers doing nonbid work while Agnew was Anne Arundel County executive and later governor of Maryland.

After a round of plea bargaining, Agnew agreed to plead no contest to a single count of tax evasion. He resigned as vice president on Oct. 10, 1973, and was subsequently fined $10,000 and placed on three years of unsupervised probation.

After his resignation, Agnew continued to protest his innocence of any wrongdoing.

The documents to be released today include four affadavits provided the prosecutors by Lester Matz and Allen Green, two design consultants; I.H. Hammerman II, the alleged bagman in the scheme; and Jerome D. Wolff, the state roads chairman in Agnew's administration as governor.

On Jan. 23, the prosecutors are to hand over papers pertaining to the plea bargaining, and on Jan. 30 all remaining secret documents are to be turned over to the judge.

Finney's office argued during a hearing on the papers last month that public disclosure of the contents would damage an ongoing investigation into political corruption in Maryland.

An aide to Judge Green said the Justice Department will be allowed to submit supplementary information to justify claims that some of the Agnew material should be kept secret. The judge has indicated she does not want the material made public if it would harm an existing investigation.

Full-size Chevy top '75 seller

DETROIT (AP) — The fullsize Chevrolet was the top-selling car in America for the fifth straight time last year, but two smaller cars moved within striking distance.

The Oldsmobile Cutlass and the Ford Granada were the only two cars in the top 10 to show sales gains over 1974, as the economic slump and concern over fuel economy hit hard at most models, including the big Chevy.

The mid-sized Cutlass jumped to second place from 10th in 1974. The compact Granada, which debuted in the 1975 model year, was third.

Japan's Toyota led the imports, ending Volkswagen's 20-year reign as America's most popular foreign car. Germany's VW slipped to second among foreign makes, followed by Datsun, another Japanese import.

THE GOVERNOR

Attended the annual Governor's Prayer Breakfast and briefed the press on his proposed 1976-77 state budget.

Appointed seven members of the new state Arts Council and its executive director and a deputy director.

THE SENATE
Bill Introduced

Taxes — Would deny the corporation income tax exemption to any nonprofit corporation which made one or more contributions to a political campaign unless it is a political corporation; SB 1394; Dunlap, D-Napa.

Levees — Would require that plans developed by the Department of Water Resources for improvement of levees in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta be subject to approval by the legislature; SB 1390; Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek.

Attorneys — Would allow attorneys to advertise legal services offered individually, as a firm or as a professional corporation and the price at which such services may be obtained; SB 1397; Roberti, D-Los Angeles.

Prostitution — Would allow a prostitution defendant to plead innocent of criminal wrongdoing for the reason that the defendant neither injured, nor threatened injury, to either the person or the property of another, by virtue of the conduct of which the defendant stands charged; SB 1389; Gregorio, D-San Mateo.

Malpractice — Would create a joint underwriting association to be composed of all liability insurers in this state to issue medical malpractice insurance to all physicians and surgeons in California. Such insurance issues by the association would be subject to a $10,000 deductible, which is the amount of insurance physicians and surgeons would be required to personally insure; SB 1388; Wedworth, D-Hawthorne.

Synthetic fuels — Would enact the California Resources Recovery Finance Authority Act, providing for construction and operation by cities and counties of solid waste conversion facilities for production of synthetic fuels; SB 1395; Joint Committee on Job Development.

THE ASSEMBLY
Bills Passed

Kindergarten — Would allow a parent to keep a child in kindergarten for more than one year, with the approval of the school district; AB 2407; Boatwright, D-Concord; 77-0; to Senate.

Discrimination — Would ban job discrimination based on height, weight or failure to pass a proficiency test unless those requirements were related to job performance; AB 2190; Meade, D-Berkeley; 43-29; to Senate.

Admission Day — Would change Admission Day from Sept. 9 to the second Monday in September; AB 1896; Siegler, DVallejo; 46-25; to Senate.

Bills Introduced

Malpractice — Would, in effect, roll back medical malpractice insurance rates to their Jan. 1, 1975 level, ban awards for pain and suffering, shorten the state of limitations to one year; AB 2630; Cline, R-Northridge.

Doctors — Would require the state to issue a doctor's license to physicians who have practiced at least five years in a foreign country and met other requirements; AB 2632; Bannai, R-Gardena.

Fireworks — Would allow sale of fireworks only to licensed display operators; AB 2634; Rosenthal, D-Los Angeles.

Dogs — Would make it a misdemeanor to own a dog who has bitten another person twice if the owner failed to take reasonable steps to protect other persons after learning of the first bite; AB 2628; Tucker, D-Inglewood.

Taxes — Would allow school districts an annual budget increase in accordance with the cost of living, instead of the current 6 per cent ceiling; AB 2646; Mori.

Taxes — Would lower residential property taxes by restricting their revenues to property-related services such as sewers, the difference to be made up by a local income tax; AB 2654; Nimmo, R-Atascadero.

Vessels — Would impose a uniform statewide property tax of 1.5 per cent on vessels; AB 2656; Carpenter, D-Cypress.

Banks — Would repeal the minimum $200 tax on banks and corporations; AB 2657; Carpenter.

Music — Would set up a state fund for support of music and art education, to be financed by a 5 per cent tax on the sale of music and art supplies; AB 2658; Carpenter.

Bribery — Would require a one-year sentence for any elected public official convicted of bribery; AB 2659; Carpenter.

Seat Belts — Would require all school buses to have seat belts after July 1, 1977; AB 2668; Carpenter.

Bargaining — Would require school collective bargaining negotiations to be public; AB 2670; McVittie, D-Upland.

Elderly — Would give all persons over 62 to 50 per cent discount on sport fishing licenses; AB 2662; Carpenter.

Elderly — Would give all persons over 62 and all disabled persons a 50 per cent discount on state park use fees; AB 2664; Carpenter.

Colby says CIA hasn't spent a nickel in Italy recently

WASHINGTON (AP) — CIA Director William E. Colby said Thursday the agency has "not spent a nickel in Italy in the past few months," but he stopped short of denying reports that the CIA has begun to funnel $6 million to anti-Communist elements in Italy.

Asked in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show whether the CIA planned to spend money in Italy, Colby replied: "I am not at liberty to discuss details."

During the interview, one day after public reports of covert CIA funding in Italy, Colby blamed members of Congress for leaking intelligence secrets. "We have to insist that our members of Congress ... assume responsibility for knowing things that cannot be passed on," he said.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Wednesday there is "a strong suspicion in the White House" that the reports of CIA funding originated in Congress. Asked to be more specific, Nessen replied: "I could but I won't."

Nessen declined to confirm or deny the CIA was paying the funds, but an authoritative source elsewhere confirmed the operation, which was initially disclosed in The Washington Post and The New York Times.

In Italy, hundreds of thousands of civil servants staged a nationwide 24-hour strike today demanding new work contracts as the Christian Democrats, hit by a government crisis, ruled out cooperation with Communists in forming the next cabinet.

A role for the Communist party was a key factor in the collapse of Christian Democratic Premier Aldo Moro's 13-month-old minority coalition Wednesday night. Moro resigned after the Socialist Party, the nation's third largest after the Christian Democrats and Communists, withdrew its parliamentary support.

Political leaders, contemplating the ruins of their government, began jockeying for position in Italy's 33rd postwar administration — the only alternative to premature general elections likely to favor the Communist party.

In his interview, Colby noted that the law requires him to brief six congressional committees on covert operations, and he cited what he said was a statement made about the 1776 Continental Congress: "The Congress consists of too many members to keep secrets."

Colby deplored that "almost everything reported to the Congress is reported to the press.

"Now this is not a way to keep secrets," he said, and mentioned "two congressmen" in particular who have said publicly that Colby briefed them on covert CIA activities in Italy.

Colby did not name the congressmen, but such statements have been made by Reps. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, and Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., members of the International Relations Committee.

Colby said the Justice Department has endorsed his proposal that would give him legal power to prevent former agency employes from revealing intelligence secrets.

The $6 million was going directly to members of the Christian Democratic and Democratic Socialist parties in an attempt to head off what Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger considers alarming advances by Communists in Europe, according to the authoritative source.

Hayes and Ryan were publicly critical of CIA activities in Italy.

The Ohio congressman said he told Colby after the briefing, "I didn't think it was a very bright idea."

Hays said he was concerned that the CIA would have no control over how the money was spent and that the "minute it becomes known" the net effect would be a gain for the Communists. Hays said he told Colby, "Whoever dreamed this up should have his head examined."

Ryan said the CIA declined to turn over the names of the individuals receiving the money. Instead, the comittee was told it was simply being advised of the program, as required by law, and that President Ford approved it.

Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., who also was briefed on the CIA program, said the CIA declined to turn over the names of the individuals receiving the money. Instead, the committee was told it was simply being advised of the program, as required by law, and that President Ford had approved it, Ryan said.

Ryan said he and Hays "raised hell about it" but Colby gave no acknowledgment the congressmen could do anything about the funding.

"How do you explain this thing, that we believe in free government but aren't willing to trust the people of Italy to make a decision?" Ryan said. "Suppose the British Labor party or the German Social Democratic party came into the U.S. and spent several million dollars on our elections. Guess what the reaction would be."

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was dissatisfied with the manner in which Congress is given after-the-fact notification of CIA covert operations.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., defended the payments, saying Italy and the United States have "ties of long standing," that "more than a billion dollars" in American money is invested in Italy and that U.S. Navy ships rely on Italian ports.

Apples apples

In late April and early May a large, mature apple tree will produce between 50,000 and 100,000 blossoms, in clusters of five or six. If all the blossoms were to set fruit, the tree would produce as many as 800 bushels of small apples. Usually a mere 2 to 5 per cent of the apple blossoms set fruit that develops into maturity, yielding 15 to 30 bushels of apples.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ORDINANCE 1466, THE COMPREHENSIVE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF POMONA

The Planning Commission of the City of Pomona does hereby declare and give notice that a public hearing will be held on January 14, 1976 in the City Hall Council Chambers, 505 South Garey Avenue, at 8:00 p.m. regarding a request for a proposed amendment to Ordinance 1466, the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the City of Pomona, declaring Massage Parlors, as a use, to be nonconforming in all zone districts, and to establish time limits for the termination of such non-conforming uses.

All persons interested in or having objection to this proposal may appear as indicated above and/or review the data, including detailed locational information, on file at the Planning Department office, 505 South Garey Avenue, Pomona, California.

Business briefs

BUFFALO (AP) — Two thousand jobs at a nearby Western Electric Co. manufacturing plant will be phased out over the next two years, Buffalo newspapers have reported.

Western Electric officials declined Wednesday to confirm or deny the reports.

The plant reported a 1974 payroll of $30.9 million and production of goods worth $132.3 million. The production includes cable, cords and wiring for the parent American Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Three weeks ago, Western Electric disclosed that studies were being made to determine the future of the Tonawanda plant and three others elsewhere. The Tonawanda plant had been operating at 60 to 65 per cent of capacity and employment had dropped by nearly 600 in the last two years.

The company had been building a large plant in another Erie County town, Elma, but work was recently halted midway through construction.

Whale-watch may be hazardous to whales

SAN DIEGO (AP)— Scientists fear that the growing sport of whale-watching may be hazardous to the well-being of the whales.

Each winter herds of California gray whales migrate from cold Arctic waters to Scammon's Lagoon in Baja California. Hundreds of people in commercial and private boats rush offshore to view the spectacle at close range.

But the National Marine Fisheries Service is making a whale count off San Diego, trying to determine if all the boats cruising back and forth around the whale herds are affecting the giant sea-going mammals.

And some experts are already convinced that the whale-watchers are doing just that.

"The whales are being harassed, no question about it," said Dr. Raymond Gilmore of San Diego. "I'm inclined to think we have to stop it."

Carl Hubbs, professor emeritus at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, agreed with Gilmore.

"A lot of boat operators get excited and dash up at full speed to give their customers a thrilling closeup look," he said.

"This disturbs the whales and there is some evidence that they are moving further offshore, off of their natural migration route, to try and avoid it."

"If they know what they are doing, there's no reason why everyone can't go out and look at the whales."

But he cautioned would-be whale-watchers not to sail too close to mating whale or come between a mother whale and her calf.

Magnolia has 38 on honor roll

Federal, state cutbacks reported straining county

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Continuing cutbacks in financial aid by both the federal and state governments are having a jarring effect on county finances, says Chief Administrative Officer Harry L. Hufford.

In a report to the Board of Supervisors, Hufford said Wednesday that in recent years social and health programs have been started by the federal and state governments and then handed over to counties to continue at county expense.

As a result, he said, "recent cutbacks in Washington and Sacramento are beginning to have a drastic impact on the county's role as a provider of services."

Cutbacks during the current fiscal year may cost Los Angeles County more than $45 million and that could increase to $92 million in fiscal 1976-77, Hufford told the board.

"The property taxpayer cannot be expected to continue to finance through property tax revenues the present magnitude of health and social services primarily initiated at the state and federal levels."

Hufford cited declines in gasoline tax revenues, the financing of various community redevelopment agencies, and revenue collection problems as creating trouble for the county's $3 billion budget.

Accumulated federal revenue sharing money has helped the county meet cash flow problems the past two years but this year that is not available.

Home and garden

HOT WEATHER ROSE — Seashell, one of the All-American Rose Selections for 1976, is a golden peach and pink hybrid tea rose. It has an outstanding fragrance and does particularly well in hot weather.

Select your roses now

Now is the time to replace weak plants, try a few new varieties, or start your first garden. Bare root roses are in good supply and if you plant now will have a good head-start over those planted in the spring.

The All-American Rose Selections for 1976 are available at your local nursery. The winners are versatile, vigorous and showy.

In selecting bareroot stock look for a strong root system and several canes above the graft union. Choose colors in groups of three or more so you'll be able to pick bouquets of complimentary colors during the long blooming season.

Select a site exposed to full sunlight and good circulation of air. Plot the area on paper and plan to position roses on not less than 30-36 inch centers. Select miniatures or low-growing floribundas for use as borders or patio container plants. Hybrid tea roses, known for their long-stemmed beauty, make ideal mass plantings. The taller growing grandiflora varieties form a colorful backdrop to your rose garden and provide excellent cut flowers.

Climbing roses create, in a growing season, a pleasing effect on bare fences, trellises and arches. Or try Tree Roses that produce their blooms and fragrance at eye level. They make great plantings in the garden or in large containers.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that you consult your local nurseryman in selecting those varieties which do well in your area. He can also provide any cultural or planting advice you need.

Here's the answer

By ANDY LANG

Q. — I intend to do some work soon with plastic laminate, the kind that ordinarily is seen on kitchen countertops. I have a pretty good idea of how to handle it, but two things puzzle me because of contradictory things I have read or heard. One is whether the face of the laminate should be down or up when it is being cut. The other is whether it is necessary to attach any backing to the rear of the laminate to keep it from warping. Can you help me?

A. — The good side of the plastic laminate should be face up when it is being cut, with one exception. The good side should be face down when a portable circular saw is being used. As for using backing, I assume you mean backing on the plywood or other base to which the laminate is usually glued. Some people use a cheap laminate on the rear of the board if that portion is to be exposed to the air; some use a sealer, such as shellac. But when the laminate and its base are glued to a table top or counter top which is securely attached to a frame, backing is not necessary.

Q. — We have a small terra cotta statue. The bottom of it is very rough and when the statue is moved carelessly, it leaves scratches on a wood surface. I want to smooth out the bottom with sandpaper or steel wool, but I'm afraid it may take off too much of the material. How can this be avoided?

A. — Forget about sanding or steel wooling. Almost any hardware store sells felt material made especially for cementing to the bottom of such objects.

(For either of Andy Lang's helpful booklets, "Wood Finishing in the Home" or "Paint Your House Inside and Out," send 30 cents and a long, STAMPED, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N.Y. 11743.)

How to really use the hammer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

One of the most basic of all hand tools is the hammer — so apparently simple to use that few persons ever feel the need to learn how to do it properly.

The thousands of injuries that occur to handymen while using the hammer each year are nearly always caused by misuse. Entirely aside from that, countless projects are delayed or spoiled by the improper use of hammers. Even further, many cases of arm fatigue can be traced to the use of hammers that don't "fit" the persons or the jobs, as well as to the simple failure to wield the tool in the right manner.

The following tips apply to the types of hammers generally used around the house:

1 — Be sure the handle is neither loose nor damaged.

2 — Use safety glasses when practical, but especially when driving hardened masonry nails into concrete. In the latter case, use a heavy ball pein hammer with a large striking force or a hand drilling hammer rather than the old, ordinary claw or nail hammer.

3 — The hammer blow should always be struck with the hammer face parallel with the surface being struck.

4 — Hold the hammer handle at the end without any of your hand overhanding.

5 — Rest the face of the hammer on the nail, draw the hammer back and give a light tap as you hold the nail in place with the thumb and first two fingers of one hand.

6 — The wrist, the elbow and the shoulder handle hammer blows. For a light tap, use only the wrist. For a moderate blow, use the wrist and the elbow. For heavy whacks, use the wrist, elbow and shoulder.

7 — When a nail bends, it is generally better to remove it and start a new one than attempt to straighten it out with compensating blows. The exception is in very rough work, where striking the nail at a slant to straighten it out is occasionally all right if you are very careful.

8 — Whether you hit a nail straight or on a slant, always strike it with the center of the hammer face.

9 — Keep a few nailsets of different sizes in your workshop. Use one when a nail is to be driven below the surface. Drive the nail the ordinary way, then use the nailset for the last two or three blows.

10 — In withdrawing a nail, slip the claw of the hammer under the nail head and pull the handle toward you. Do not draw it past a vertical position. For a stubborn nail, place a piece of wood under the head of the hammer to increase the leverage and relieve unnecessary strain on the handle.

Winter iris show held at Arboretum

ARCADIA — The Southern California Iris Society will present its winter iris show at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 17 and 18. Hours for the show are 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday and 10 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Duncan Eader of Arcadia, president of the society, describes the show as primarily an exhibit of reblooming iris. Although iris are commonly a spring-blooming flower, there are many that bloom in the winter and bloom again several times later in the year. The show will be composed of this reblooming type. Awards will be presented for the best specimens.

Lift Dahlias when the tops dry off. Use a spading fork, taking care not to jab the clump of tubers. Wash off dirt, dry in sun and store in cool dry place. You don't have to divide the clump until you're ready to replant next spring.

Perennials you can plant this month include: Shasta Daisies, Day Lilies, Columbine, Phlox and Lily-of-the-Valley. Mix in plenty of organic material with the soil.

Plant Daphne now for fragrant blooms in late January and February.

Keep planting bulbs. It's not too late for daffodils or tulips. Even hyacinths can still go in, though the sooner you start them the better.

Many dormant trees — especially fruit trees — should be pruned now. Don't prune spring-flowering shrubs and trees until after bloom, however.

Snails and slugs love the cool weather. Scatter snail bait to keep their population from building up.

Fill the spring garden with a carnival of color by planting annuals now. Violas, pansies, iceland poppies, calendulas, stocks and snapdragons are some free-flowering favorites to set-out now.

Home prices still rising

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Potential home buyers who are waiting, or have waited for real estate prices or interest rates to drop before buying a home will probably end up costing themselves money, says Tom DeBord, president of the Fresno Realty board.

He told the city Chamber of Commerce that with homes today increasing in value about 10 per cent a year — more in some areas — it would take an interest drop of at least 2 per cent during the year to compensate for the value increase.

No refunds on postal hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the recent increase in postal rates is ruled illegal, no refunds can be given to mail users, the Postal Service says.

In papers filed this week with the U.S. Court of Appeals, the service cited "the sheer administrative impossibility of providing such reimbursement to all mail users."

The statements came in response to an effort by an organization of bulk mailers, the Associated Third Class Mail Users, to force the Postal Service to make refunds if the rate increase is ruled illegal.

The bulk mailers have asked the court to overturn the Dec. 31 postal rate increase that sent the price of first class stamps from 10 to 13 cents.

They also have asked that the proceeds from the rate hike be placed in a special account until the court decides the legality of the increase. Refunds could be made from such an account if the rate increase is ruled illegal, the bulk mailers said.

The Postal Service, in opposing the request, said, "The additional postage paid by mail users under the recent temporary rate increase cannot be reimbursed."

The service said it would be illegal for the court to order refunds. It quoted a law saying, "No mailer may be reimbursed for any amount paid under any rate or fee which, after such payment, is determined to have been unlawful...."

The appeals court is expected to hold a hearing this month on the bulk mailer's challenge of the rate increase.

Strange looking creature: just an ape, or man-like

NEW YORK (AP) — Oliver has a bald pate even though he's supposed to be only seven years old, and sharp pointed ears like Spock of TV fame.

He's hairy all over, but more hairy on his arms and legs than on his body. He stands very erect, and usually wears a grim expression.

At least, that's what Oliver looks like in the picture released here Wednesday by Manhattan attorney Michael Miller, who claims to have purchased the "very strange-looking creature" for $8,000 from an unidentified animal act in an unidentified upstate New York area.

"I have promised to protect everyone involved," the 34-year-old Miller said in explaining why he's so secretive about where Oliver came from.

Miller said he plans to have Oliver put through various tests to determine whether he is an ape or a man-like creature — or even a young "Big Foot."

Big Foot is the creature who is America's answer to the Abominable Snowman of the Himalayas, and his tracks have been reported so often there is now a Big Foot Information and Research Center out in Oregon.

Miller says he doesn't think Oliver is a Big Foot, but that if he should turn out to be, his $8,000 would turn out to be a pretty good investment.

Miller said after the tests on Oliver are completed, he plans to introduce him to the press, possibly in a few weeks.

May yet turn to Kennedy?

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Patrick Lucey thinks Democrats might yet turn to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in their search for a 1976 presidential candidate. And Lucey, a longtime friend of the Kennedy family, says it's conceivable the Massachusetts senator could accept.

"I can conceive of a set of circumstances under which the party would turn to Ted and under which Ted could be persuaded to run," Lucey, a Democrat, said Wednesday in an interview with The Associated Press.

Kennedy has announced that he would not be a presidential candidate this year under any circumstances, but speculation about such a possibility has continued.

"I think Ted is being completely honest in his serious-like statements about not wanting the nomination," Lucey said.

Signed by Washington, Jefferson

1st treaty with Indians discovered in archives

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — America's first treaty with the Indians, signed by George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, has been discovered in the musty archives of the Louisiana Supreme Court.

Signed on Aug. 7, 1790, the treaty came to the high state court on appeal in 1825 and was dutifully filed away.

President Washington and Jefferson, his secretary of state, signed the treaty with Alexander McGillivray, the Creek war chief who took his name from his father, a Scots trader.

"Washington was attempting to break the Spanish-Creek connection with this treaty," said Dr. Tom Watson, the McNeese State University associate history professor who was instrumental in finding and authenticating the document Wednesday.

Called the New York Treaty because New York City was then the seat of government, the first Indian treaty signed by the new federal government also had the first secret provision.

In it, McGillivray was commissioned a brigadier general at an annual salary of $1,200, a position which might have disturbed the Spanish.

The main parts of the treaty involved the Creeks yielding claim to some land in Georgia while the United States recognized the rest of the disputed land as Creek territory.

The agreement was broken within a quarter-century when Andrew Jackson wiped out an entire band of 800 Creeks on March 27, 1814, at the Horseshoe Bend of the Tallapoosa River near present-day Alexander City, Ala.

"The carnage was dreadful," reported Jackson, who then dictated peace terms to the Creeks. They gave up 23 million acres of land in Alabama and Georgia, and began a long march to Oklahoma.

There is no record of whether the Louisiana Supreme Court ever ruled on the appeal.

Tests, displays

Health fair day set in Montclair

The Montclair-Ontario Junior Women's Club will sponsor a community health fair Saturday at the Montclair Plaza from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Twenty-one agencies will take part in the fair with displays, films and health testing. Mrs. Elvin Yoakum is fair chairman.

The San Bernardino County Health Department and Medical Center will provide testing on respiratory functions. James Davidson, technical director of the center, will be on hand to give test results.

The San Bernardino County Heart Association will provide free blood pressure tests. The Ontario Fire Department will demonstrate the current procedures of paramedics.

The Kidney Foundation, Arthritis Foundation, March of Dimes, Epilepsy Society of San Bernardino, American Cancer Society, Tri-County Dental Society and the Southern California Chapter National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death, Inc., will show films and distribute literature.

Fire injuries, Recovery and Education Foundation, sponsored by San Bernardino County Fire Department Ladies' Auxiliary, will work with the Montclair Fire Department in providing information on home evacuation, safety, fire injuries and recovery. Paul McNaughton of Phoenix, Ariz. will demonstrate the "people mover," a special bed for burn victims.

Local organizations on hand to answer questions will be the Firehouse, Ontario-Pomona Association of Retarded Citizens, Planned Parenthood, Reach Out West End and West End Family Counseling Service. Visiting Nurses Association and the state Department of Health, Continuing Care Services will have films and visual aids for public education.

Mrs. Russ Nelson, club president, and members of the Junior Club, will serve as hostesses for the day.

Persons wishing additional information may call Mrs. Yoakum, 624-7877.

Dial-a-ride expanding in Upland and Ontario

Dial-a-ride service will be available to residents in north Upland and northeast Ontario beginning late this month.

City Manager Lee Travers of Upland, chairman of the technical committee for the West Valley Transit Service Authority, announced this week that the final plans for implementation are nearly complete.

Dave Systems of La Habra, is the consultant to WVTSA for design of the dial-a-ride which will pick up residents from their homes and take them to any location within the service area.

The dial-a-ride will also serve as a feeder to the Omnitrans buses throughout Ontario, Upland, Montclair and Chino, connecting to the fixed routes at the edge of and outside the service areas.

The service areas will encompass regions and residents in both West End cities not presently enjoying much public transportation service, said Travers.

In Upland, it will cover the area north of Foothill Boulevard with the west boundary at Benson Avenue, the east border the city limits north to 16th Street and above 16th to Campus Avenue. The service will stop at the northern city limits.

A small section below Foothill where San Antonio Community Hospital and a surrounding medical community are located will also be served. The total area is about six square miles.

The 4½ square mile loop in Ontario will cover Campus Avenue to the San Bernardino Freeway west and then jog east and north to the city limits, Vineyard Avenue on the east and Holt Boulevard on the south.

Paul's Yellow Cab, owned by Gene Stalians, will be the contractor and operator of both dial-a-rides. The WVTSA purchased four 1972 station wagons from Stalians last August for the experimental dial-a-ride. Two station wagons each will cover the separate services.

The fare will be 50 cents which gives the rider one transfer onto a fixed route bus line. The senior citizen fare is 25 cents.

The services are expected to log an approximate 98,080 vehicles miles annually. The total cost is an estimated $90,260, with Upland contributing $22,528 and Ontario paying $18,582. The remaining amount will be met through an operating grant from the federal Urban Mass Transit Authority.

Travers pointed out that both services will begin "slowly and we'll see what happens before expanding the service."

Travers will coordinate the Upland service and City Manager Roger Hughbanks will have charge of the Ontario service.

The exact start-up date will be announced later.

Pomona employes vote to join union

ENGINE ARRIVES W. B. Fletcher, chairman of the Southern California Chapter of Railway and Locomotive Historical Society, left, tells bystanders about Southern Pacific Locomotive 5021 which is being moved to Los Angeles County Fairgrounds over lines recently installed for the Freedom Train. The engine which weighs nearly 400 tons slipped from the track Thursday.

72% decide to link up with AFL local

Pomona city employes Thursday voted overwhelmingly to join a union, most likely giving the group greater bargaining power with city management.

By a 72 per cent affirmative vote, employes voted to affiliate with Service Employes International Union Local 660 (AFL-CIO).

The organization formerly representing employes was Pomona City Employes Association.

Out of 330 employes eligible, 305 voted. The tally was 223 to join the union, and 82 against SEIU. Out of the 82, 61 voted to remain as the PCEA and 16 voted for "no organization."

"We're pleased the employes want to continue with the same fine organization they've had, with the added benefits they will enjoy with SEIU," said Barbara Stapleton, PCEA president.

"Obviously this will give us greater bargaining power."

The vote to unionize does not mean employes immediately will go out and strike, she stated.

"We could have struck with the PCEA, but strikes are illegal. And you don't strike without a majority vote."

The new SEIU unit excludes more than 70 management personnel. The City Council voted by ordinance to categorize which employes were management and those who were not.

Dog obedience class to start

A dog obedience class will be offered by the La Verne Recreation Department and the Hacienda Hills Dog Obedience Club at Kuns Park in La Verne starting Monday.

Vintage locomotive 'slips' into new fairgrounds home

Southern Pacific Locomotive 5021, a giant from the past which weighs over 368 tons, is being moved to the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds over the spur line constructed for the recent visit of the Freedom Train.

But moving the giant engine from San Bernardino where it has been stored for a number of years by the Southern California Chapter of The Railway and Locomotive Historical Society has not gone smoothly.

The engine derailed Thursday at the fairgrounds. A spokesman said it will take some time to put it back on the track because the engine is not in operating condition and is extremely heavy.

The society has six engines, a caboose, and an authentic station located at the fairgrounds where members work on the giant machines to restore them. They are exhibited to the public only during the fair in September each year.

This SP locomotive has been stored by the society at the Santa Fe yards in San Bernardino since it was given to the group by the railroad company. It is typical of those which passed through the valley many years ago.

The switch installed for the recent visit of the Freedom Train in the area was used to move the locomotive, but the tracks were changed.

The spokesman added that the society loaned some of its engine parts to the Freedom Train to allow it to continue on to its next stop in Santa Barbara.

Boy injured in accident

A 5-year-old Pomona boy suffered a leg injury Thursday afternoon when he was hit by a car near his home at Towne Avenue south of Seventh Street.

The motorist, Ricky Hernandez, 17, 1695 S. San Antonio Ave., said that Leland Stiefel, 555 E. Seventh St., ran into the path of his car and he could not avoid the boy.

The victim was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital and transferred to County-USC Medical Center where he was released after treatment.

Azusa man hurt

An Azusa man was injured Thursday when his motorcycle struck a paddle marker after he turned off the 210 Freeway onto Arrow Highway in San Dimas.

Bruce Allen Cram, 22, was admitted to the San Dimas Community Hospital where his condition is termed as stable.

City clerk post

Carpenter bids for re-election in Upland

The feeling that she has the confidence of the Upland City Council and city employees led Mrs. Doreen Carpenter to seek re-election as Upland city clerk in the March 2 municipal election.

"I have worked hard during the past eight years I've been city clerk to become highly qualified in this position," said Mrs. Carpenter.

"While the city clerk is responsible for the recording and dissemination of information concerning the city to the public and the press, the position requires an impartial stand on all civic issues.

"I have nothing to do with setting policies in the city and must not become involved in any special-interest projects."

Mrs. Carpenter has been nominated as second vice president of the Southern California City Clerks Association.

In addition, she is an officer with the City Clerks Association of California and a member of the League of California Cities Committee on Administration and Election Law.

She is active in the American Records Management Association, the Upland Town Affiliation Association and the West End Opera Association.

Prior to being elected city clerk, Mrs. Carpenter was office manager for the Upland News.

Welcome to Pomona, Steve

Cal Poly Pomona's Arabian horses and its animal science program have long been recognized as among the top in the world by veterinarians and other animal specialists.

Since President Ford's youngest son, Steve, enrolled as an animal science major at the university this week, the attention of the general public now will be drawn to the school.

Young Ford, widely known for his interest in horses, has said that he selected Cal Poly Pomona because he feels the school has the best animal science program in the country.

This is a feather in the cap of the university and the community which has supported the growth of the school from a small polytechnic college to one of the major members in the California State University and Colleges system.

The present campus is located on the site of the Kellogg Ranch which was established in 1925 by W. K. Kellogg as a breeding center for Arabian stock. The university has retained the beauty of the ranch and the heritage of the horse.

But equally as important as young Ford's selection of this location for his education is his hope that he can be treated the same as his classmates. He has requested, and should expect, the privileges and privacy granted to all students.

The community is proud that this young man who could attend any college in the nation has chosen to come to Cal Poly and the Pomona Valley.

Welcome, Steve, to the university and the community and good luck in your studies, your career and your future.

Avoiding noose of dependence

Though the oil crisis developed two years back, the evidence is that this nation's and the Western world's response has been far too little and too late. New government studies indicate our dependence on the oil cartel countries will escalate dramatically in the next several years, making a mockery of U.S. national defense and foreign policy. Both can be torn to threads by a boycott or slowdown by a handful of countries, each of which is highly susceptible to a totalitarian takeover.

Oil is in the public eye. Our efforts began after a crisis. But, as is well known, we are heavily dependent on foreign sources for a string of other raw materials crucial to our defenses and economic stability.

A major share of the available export production of at least six of these essential commodities is held tightly by potential cartels.

Forty one per cent of the free world's exports of iron ore is controlled by seven major producers, 85 per cent of tin exports by six, 44 per cent of lead exports by five, 31 per cent of copper exports by four, 30 per cent of zinc exports by four and 75 per cent of bauxite exports — raw material for aluminum — by seven major producers.

The problem is the more serious because it is not simple to find substitutes quickly in the large quantities necessary, for iron ore, lead, bauxite. Zinc substitution is also difficult in the short term.

There is enough known, however, about new sources for some of these materials, new forms of substitution and improved conservation methods, to make it possible in time to reduce our dependence on the import of most of these items.

As in the case of oil, the complete elimination of imports is neither possible nor desirable. What's wanted is independence sufficient to prevent our being blackmailed or unduly pressured politically, militarily or economically.

But we must begin now while we have time and when conditions, in the main, are propitious for success.

Note first that all six of these commodities can be stockpiled without serious difficulty. In fact, if memory serves correctly, five of the six have been stockpiled extensively at one time or another by this country. The stockpiling can be carried out slowly, during those periods of low prices which occur from time to time in these cyclical fields.

Over the long pull, substitutions and alternate sources are possible for most of these commodities, if we put some thought and effort into the task.

Bauxite is plentiful, virtually worldwide, if developed. There are other ores believed suitable for economical aluminum production if better techniques are found, Recent laboratory work suggests it will be possible to come up with a wide range of plastic substitutes.

Aluminum, in turn, has been popular in recent years as a substitute for some uses of tin and copper. Other substitutes can be found — and other sources of tin and copper ore, given the proper stimulus.

Lead, zinc and iron ore may present greater problems. But it is clear that persistent research can give us handles here too. Considerable work has been done, for example, on the substitution of plastics for some iron products. Though this substitution has not always been successful, the outlook, given time, seems impressive.

True spirit of '76

Dear Editor:

Everywhere the bicentennial spirit is sweeping our country. This gala historical occasion is deeply touching the hearts of all generations as we approach our 200th birthday.

Aside from the carnival commercialization of this affair (silly jingles and toy products) the bicentennial celebration should inspire everyone to think about the positive and negative aspects of two hundred years of culture, achievement, resolution and conflict.

In our 200 years, America has left a proud legacy of independence, free enterprise and technological progress. Since our inception, the dream of social and economic equality has far from been achieved. In our schools and homes it is imperative before it is too late, for all of us to intelligently seek solution to our problems. At all levels of our society, the average individual is not accorded the respect our constitutional principles guarantee. Inequality, injustice and discrimination still exist.

The true spirit of '76 should mean a collective solidarity and practice of the founding principles of decent government, law and honesty in all our relationships. — Rudy Rangel, Pomona

Irresponsible headline

Dear Editor:

We have always been supporters of the Prog. When the mail drive was on for reporting crime, we sent in along with the many others, but —

The headline article in Sunday's paper was a very irresponsible one and we are fuming!

The story in NO WAY substantiates a "white flight"!

The change in school enrollment might be explained in many ways: we imported minorities (the Vietnamese) this year for one thing. It could also mean only that the already existing minority families in Pomona had more school age children than the white families.

There are no facts in that story to show that it is in any way related to white families moving from Pomona.

Unless that headline can be substantiated with move-in, move-out figures, the people of Pomona deserve a headline apology!

If you are in favor of this community and trying to be a positive force, as you have said, now is the time to show it, by printing the truth, instead of sensational headlines. — Joyce Nelson, Pomona

An exciting place

Dear Editor:

The city of Pomona will be 100 years old in 1976 while the country enjoys a Bicentennial celebration. On this birthday the city and the nation both face problems inherent when people of differing cultures and beliefs live side by side. Since its beginning this country has been rejuvenated by meeting and solving such problems.

The solving of problems requires vitality, and it's delightful to see the positive change in Pomona this year. Children of different ethnic backgrounds can be observed playing together happily. Young people are fixing up homes which others had left to decay. Classrooms are becoming interesting melting pots for learning and cultural exchange.

If this community can resolve difficulties natural to change, so can the nation. What opportunity! Today's frontier is in cities like Pomona. The future of this community will depend on the vigor and purpose of those people who chose to live and work here. It's an exciting place to live! — Jean Boyd Todd, Pomona

Kissinger's phone monitored

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who was implicated in tapping the telephones of seven subordinates and four newsmen, had his own phone calls monitored.

No less than Richard Nixon, in a fit of presidential pique, ordered the Secret Service to monitor calls to and from his top foreign policy adviser in December, 1972.

This has been confirmed by the man who transmitted Nixon's orders to the Secret Service, Charles Colson, then a member of Nixon's inner circle. He has described the incident in a sizzling, soon-to-be-published book, "Born Again."

We have also spoken to other sources familiar with the backroom machinations that led to the eavesdropping. Here are the incredible details:

On Sunday, Dec. 17, 1972, President Nixon ordered the Air Force to bomb North Vietnam into submission to force a settlement. The devastating round-the-clock raids outraged our adversaries and allies alike. Even at home, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield called the bombing "Stone Age strategy."

Kissinger pleaded with the President to explain his reasons for the bombing to the world Nixon not only declined but ordered strict silence about the bombing throughout the bureaucracy.

Not long afterward, New York Times columnist James Reston wrote that Kissinger had opposed the bombing. Reston was critical of the air assault, calling it "war by tantrum."

Colson read the column to Nixon, who was furious. "I will not tolerate insubordination," he exploded. "You tell Henry he's to talk to no one, period! I mean no one! And tell him not to call me. I will accept no calls from him."

Colson relayed the message to Kissinger who agreed not to discuss the bombing with anyone in the press. Meanwhile, Nixon buried himself in a Washington Redskins football game, but it didn't cool him down, Colson recalls.

Possibly to escape Nixon's wrath, Kissinger had flown off to Palm Springs, the California resort, for a few days of relaxation. But Nixon, still fuming, decided to keep tabs on Kissinger.

As Colson recounts it, the President "ordered me to have the Secret Service keep a record of all incoming and outgoing calls from Kissinger's heavily guarded villa in Palm Springs."

Colson issued the orders through an aide and the Secret Service began monitoring Kissinger's calls, says the former White House aide. He's unsure whether the Secret Service tapped Kissinger's lines, bugged his end of the conversation or merely used devices to list incoming and outgoing calls. The Secret Service had the capability, according to our sources, to do all three.

The Secret Service learned from the monitoring that Kissinger tried to reach Nixon. But true to his threat, the angry President refused to take the calls. Colson reports that Kissinger then "proceeded to call his old friend, Joe Kraft."

Three days later, the columnist wrote in the Washington Post that Kissinger had valiantly opposed Nixon's bombing order. This so infuriated the President that he began "counting the days until Henry left to return to Harvard," recalls Colson.

Sources close to Kissinger say he was acutely aware of the move to send him back to Harvard. The H.R. Haldeman-John Ehrlichman-Charles Colson palace guard were "out to get him," according to intimates of Kissinger. During this period, Kissinger felt the palace guard wanted to force him out in disgrace and make him the scapegoat for Nixon's bombing policies.

Colson contends, however, that Nixon had decided even earlier to replace Kissinger. Colson quotes the former President as confiding to him at Camp David: "Kissinger will be leaving in six or eight months. It's not good for a man to stay too long in that position. It will be better for Henry."

Kissinger's intimates confirm that the palace guard succeeded for awhile in cutting Kissinger off from the President. But as Nixon sank deeper in the Watergate mire, he turned increasingly to foreign affairs to divert attention from the scandal. Eventually, he concluded that he needed Kissinger.

So instead of ousting Kissinger, the President added to his stature. At the time, Kissinger had only one title; he was the President's national security adviser. But in August, 1973, Nixon invited Kissinger to San Clemente, Calif. During a swim in the presidential pool, Nixon notified Kissinger that he would be the next Secretary of State.

National interest first

What ought our foreign policy be? The answer to this question is the answer to the question of what our CIA and other agencies are, or ought to be doing overseas.

It's important for American taxpayers and welfare advocates to know what our spending is for the hardware and military might we have deployed around the globe. Earl Ravenelle, a professor of foreign policy at John Hopkins University, defines our national security interest this way:

- To guarantee that no part of the United States is attacked or destroyed by enemy forces.
- That our internal processes are never dictated by the threat of another nation or a non-national group.
- American lives and property are not spent, except in the obvious and necessary defense of these objectives.

These are simple goals and preclude entirely the kind of shameful behavior we've learned about from the Congressional investigations of our security apparatus. The implementation of these goals also suggests that we could virtually cut our defense budget in half, reducing it by nearly $40 billion.

If we can define our national interest thusly, and no other objective seems right or moral or pragmatically worthwhile, then we can begin setting our own homes in order. We can begin to house and feed and heal our own people.

Averill Harriman, that grand ole man who served four American Presidents, told a TV audience recently that foreign policy begins with domestic policy. If that's true, then it's no wonder we've had a foreign policy designed to protect privilege and shore-up those forces across the globe who stand firmest against human freedom.

That is a reflection of our national domestic purposes. Despite the rhetoric one hears more and more during this bicentennial period, this 200 year history of America has demonstrated only that 200 years hasn't been enough to achieve the racial and economic equality promised so strongly by the founding fathers.

Let's then let national purpose define interest, and let that interest be the support and spread of life, liberty and happiness both here and abroad. Then our next 200 years will be secure and our great, great, great, great, great grandchildren will be celebrating us 200 years from now.

Just in jest

Well, the postal authorities finally did it! They've raised the first class postage rate to 13 cents. They're removing the copying machines from the post office lobbies. And they're threatening to discontinue Saturday mail deliveries. But maybe there's still some hope. While the government continues to sock it to us, slowly but surely the telephone companies of America are coming to the rescue. Here's what has happened over the past 22 years.

In 1954 a 3 minute phone call between Los Angeles and New York cost $2. At that time first class letter postage was 2 cents. Today that same postage is 13 cents but the phone companies have lowered their L.A. to N.Y. rate from $2 to 54 cents for the 3 minute call. One minute you can get even cheaper, especially on Saturdays and Sundays and around 11 p.m. each evening. Give those telephone people a little more time and maybe we will have the distinct pleasure of telling our inept post office officials to go take a running jump.

Another look at assassination

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Though it has been many years since the President was assassinated, rumors continue to circulate concerning the circumstances of the deed as well as whether true justice was accommodated at the time.

A widely loved leader, the President nonetheless had numerous enemies. And with the great divisions then existing in America, it has since been suspected that the murder may not have been the crime of mere pedestrian undertaking.

Indeed there is evidence that a conspiracy of grotesque proportions may have been ultimately responsible, the plotters possibly including ranking government officers or perhaps military and political luminaries of a radical government to the south.

It appears for one thing that the President himself was aware of some plot against his safety. Talking to associates on the day of the shooting, he is said to have registered his conviction that "there are men who want to take my life—and I have no doubt they will do so." More ominous than this is the recollection of one of his aides to the effect that when the chief executive left him that day it was with a firm "goodbye" rather than a less permanent salute.

And what of the fact, of which there can be no argument, that many government personalities that afternoon showed a unanimous reluctance to accompany the President on his public appearance. A governor was asked, a former congressman was invited, a general, even a member of the President's own cabinet. All made excuses, some of them quite lame, thereby fortunately staying out of harm's way.

As for the assassin himself, many still doubt his capacity — at least his unreinforced capacity — to organize a high execution. He was apparently a man pampered by women throughout his life, his existence filled with self doubts and few adventures. He boasted enough, surely, having one time reportedly remarked about the opportunity "for a man to glorify himself by killing the President." Yet close friends said he was all bark, "a coward and everybody knows it."

Could a shallow coward plan the execution of the President of the United States? Many think not. What's more, the events surrounding the assassin's death are fraught with unanswered questions that strike at the core of the controversy. He was shot dead, we've been told, but some say it was more than that. It has been suggested that he could not have been merely shot, as he was within the immediate control of the authorities. Beyond this there are the accusations that accompanied his burial, its commission in governmental secrecy giving rise to the speculation that it was merely a double who'd been killed, and the real assassin let freely go.

And here is the primary substance of the skepticism: that the assassin was let go as part of a governmental conspiratorial plan. But who were the conspirators? Nobody yet knows, that's the damned part. It's been suggested the Vice President may have been the real power behind the bullet, or possibly it was a leading cabinet secretary who was known to covet greater power. There is also the possibility, allegedly suggested by none other than the President's wife, that members of the executive security force may have been in on the plot.

Unfortunately, the government did not at the time choose to investigate its own. A federally convened trial of the assassination failed to address itself at all to the possibility of a relationship between the President's men and the President's murder. Therefore the feeling survives that the real story is yet to be fully told.

Clearly, the time has come to set the record straight at last. Too many questions remain unexplored, too many contrary clues left barren. There has even been popular talk that the President's body was never placed in the plot provided it, that authorities worried too much about the possibility of it one day being thoroughly reexamined.

Nothing short of a congressional investigation will do, of whatever duration to get the task done. The approaching Bicentennial is almost reason enough to clear up Abraham Lincoln's death once and forever.

Desperate vet wins spot in classroom

In August I paid Cal Poly $20 in admission fees for enrollment in the fall semester, only to find that there were no vacancies left in my desired major, accounting.

I was told by the desk clerk, however, that I would be registered in ample time for this winter semester but that I would have to pay an additional fee of $20.

I then went to see the admission director, who in turn waived the $20 fee and assured me I was admitted for the forthcoming winter semester.

I requested four classes. However, when my class schedule arrived it consisted of one class and this was at the wrong time.

I'm a veteran and need to be enrolled for the new semester. Otherwise my benefits are going to expire before my desired education is completed.

I have been a patient waiter but after what I learned today, my patience and hope have been exhausted.

Seeing that my time is running out, I can see no brighter future than the low paying job with the security guard company for which I now work.

A Cal Poly representative informed me by phone that I would have to hope for someone to drop out of my other classes so that I could get in. I consider this another brushoff. — V. W., Pomona.

Four days after our inquiry you were admitted to three of the four classes you wanted for preparation in accounting.

Subsequently we received assurance in writing from Robert Losser, registrar, that you were not being brushed off and that assistance of your faculty adviser, department chairman or Losser himself was available to you.

He also said an advance payment check from the Veterans Administration was awaiting you in the accounting office.

We're glad your prospects have been transferred from debit to credit.

My husband and I signed a rental agreement before we rented a house from a private owner and we put a $100 cleaning deposit down.

The agreement was that our deposit would be returned upon inspection of the house after we moved out.

We moved out on Oct. 2, 1975, and we had not received the deposit by Dec. 9. On that date we talked with our landlord and he claimed the house was never cleaned, yard work wasn't done and that we made only a $60 deposit, not $100. I have my canceled check.

When we left all the floors were mopped, the walls and cabinets washed, window sills clean, the door casing wiped off, the yard cleaned.

Can you help me get my refund? — P.M., Chino.

Occasionally we are told we don't give the landlord's grievances sufficient airing.

When we presented your complaint to your former landlord, we got a windstorm.

He admitted the floor had been mopped but said when it dried it was mud-streaked.

Other things he said about the condition of the house when he left were:

— The kitchen and bathroom were filthy and the upper window sills were thick with dust.

— The kitchen counter and sink were filthy. The drain had a strong odor. He used a strong cleanser and a brush with a lot of scrubbing to get the tile seams clean like they were when you moved in.

— He used a power scrubber on the floors and wiped them with fresh water to restore them to the condition before your occupancy.

— The curtain valances over the front door window and the bathroom window were loose on the brackets.

There was much, much more but your landlord softened it with the statement that he thought you were not at all intentionally malicious but young people unaccustomed to "this type of responsibility."

He said you were always prompt with your rent. He didn't, however, offer to refund your deposit.

The copy of your check to Action Line showed it was for $120 instead of $100 and bore the printed memo: "deposit on house." Your ex-landlord said your deposit was made the previous month and the check you copied for us was for the second month's rent.

Authority on rape disputed

Dear Ann Landers: So often we hear people criticize women for looking sexy in their tight pants, see-through blouses, and short, short skirts. The thrust of the criticism is that they are inviting trouble. One of your readers wrote, "No wonder so many women get raped. The way they dress, they are asking for it."

I would like to quote an authority. She is Dr. Dorothy Hicks, Director of the Rape Treatment Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, Fla. According to Dr. Hicks, a woman's attractiveness has nothing to do with her chances of getting raped. "Rape is a crime of violence, not sex," says Dr. Hicks. "Some men rape as many as three women a week. Many have no idea what their victims looks like. For the most part, the rapist is an angry man who feels the need to abuse a woman in order to get even with a female he hates—usually a figure that goes back to his youth."

Dr. Hicks says women who are raped are the victims of accident—being in the wrong place at the wrong time. I hope you will print this letter and clear up an old misconception — Straight Goods

Dear Straight: Dr. Dorothy Hicks is indeed a respected authority, but she is talking about the classic rapist, the nut who rapes several times a week. There is another kind of rapist — the one who knows his victim, and most rapes fall into this category. These males DO know what the women look like and the rape is sometimes triggered by a see-through blouse, those short, short skirts and tight pants.

Dear Ann Landers: I enjoy your column, but I don't always agree with your advice. Like today.

You missed a good opportunity to tell people not to give mice or ANY rodents as gifts. I learned my lesson with hamsters. My husband gave me a pair for my birthday. We thought they were so cute. But we didn't know a darned thing about their habits.

Soon we had 16. We gave the babies to everyone we could con into taking them. It wasn't easy. We still had more left than we wanted.

One evening my husband took three of the hamsters out of the cage to play with. One little devil disappeared. We looked for him for three days. When we finally found him he had already made a nest in my closet and chewed his way through a large box of stored sweaters and skirts. He also ate a hunk out of my finest bedspread. The hole was so big you could have put your head through it.

Rodents make rotten pets. Ask me — I Know

Dear Know: So does my daughter. When she bought her children hamsters she also took in a cat. I won't give the details, but they were grisly. Today she has neither hamsters nor cat. The children are quite content with their dog, "Tosh."

CONFIDENTIAL To Searching And Not Finding: I'm not surprised. Happiness can't be found in any specific place. It isn't something you can capture and put in a jar like a butterfly. It's a state of mind that flows like water and shifts like the sands. The happiest people I know are too busy to ask themselves if they are happy.

Dr. Miller

Family cottage for canaries

DEAR DR. MILLER: This year, we'd be tickled pink if we could get Goldie and Condor, our canaries, to raise a family. How soon should we have their honeymoon cottage ready? What month? — R.L.

DEAR R.L.: Their nest needs to be ready by April, at latest. March might be even better if the lovebirds are in breeding condition by that time. Presumably you ARE getting them in condition now? Consider your canaries won't need a love next then or any other time unless they actually are in breeding condition. They might be forced to resort to feathered fantasis if they're not in condition for the real thing.

DEAR DR. MILLER: If the fireplace wasn't screened, I think my Siamese, Harpy, would crawl right into it. As it is, she sleeps so close her fur gets hot to the touch. How can this possibly be comfortable for her? Doesn't it dry the hair excessively? — T.T.

DEAR T.T.: Heat-loving Harpy's hair, and even the skin under it, can be singed by snuggling too close to the flames (or to any other heat source such as a radiator). For safety's sake, fireplace screens should enclose that opening and extend out far enough so that near the floor it never becomes uncomfortably hot to the touch. Hence Harpy, who would have to be on the outside of the screen, couldn't be either.

DEAR DR. MILLER: In a class, I learned how to cut my dog's toenails. The trouble is, I've been waiting ever since for these nails to grow out so I could cut them, and they never do. It's been so long now I've almost forgotten how. How long does it usually take? This is very frustrating. — N.A.

DEAR N.A.: Nails need never be trimmed if they are worn down rapidly enough to prevent excessive growth. Active type dogs, and apparently yours is one of these, tend to keep their nails short without any help, particularly if their "beat" is a hard surface such as concrete. Dogs with dew claws, those nails on the inner sides of the feet which are raised too high to wear on the walked-on surface, may grow and require periodic trimming even though the other nails do not. Keep track of these dew claws and trim as required, since they may grow in a half circle back, painfully, into their own pad.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Charlie Cat's right foreleg was amputated at the shoulder about a year ago because of a neuro-fibrosarcoma. He gets along splendidly, with one exception. He can't clean his right ear, which gets gummy. I tried a cotton swap dipped in mineral oil, but the oil made a mess all over his face and neck — and after he rolled in the dirt, it was REALLY a mess. Any suggestions? — S.S.

DEAR S.S.: Mineral oil on a cotton swab is a logical combination for feline ear cleaning, particularly if the accumulated dirt within the folds of the ear is dry. If you use only enough oil to moisten the swab, there won't be any left to dribble down the face and neck. You can also use follow-up cotton swabs dipped lightly in rubbing alcohol which will clean out the remaining mineral oil so that dirt is less likely to stick to the area. (The light application of alcohol on the swab stick is the best first choice for cleaning when the ear contains moist wax or is gummy to start with.)

Please note that if the residue within the ear is heavy and accumulating down in the ear canal itself, or if there's actually an ear odor, this is not a job for home-cleaning techniques, but requires a doctor's expertise.

DEAR DR. MILLER: When Price is happy, he kneads. Vigorously. Prince is happiest when he's in bed with us. He doesn't knead on us, for which we're grateful, because he has very long, very sharp nails. But he does knead on the bed, and we worry. It's a water bed. Every night we expect to wake up finding it has sprung a leak, or a series of them. It's unfair to this cat to put him down on the floor. Aside from keeping Prince unhappy, which would hardly do and which we don't want to anyway, how can we keep our nighly nest dry — on the outside? — W.M.

DEAR W.M.: Periodic pedicures for Prince provide the safest solution.

A free smoking clinic

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I wonder if you are aware of the free five day plan of non-smoking clinics conducted by the Seventh Day Adventists as a community service. I think they could be quite useful to your readers.

I had the privilege of assisting with two clinics and was impressed with the results. The majority who succeeded had smoked 20 to 40 years. Their pleasure at being free, their remarks of gratitude and surprise that it could be done were thrilling. Actually 70 to 80 per cent quit within five days.

Many of the people who attended were referred by their physician or by the American Cancer Society. The buddy system is used for support — films, lectures and a juice diet are used the first day or two. At the end of the five days the "I Choose Not to Smoke" buttons are exchanged by the victorious ones for gold I.Q. (I Quit) lapel pins.

Interested persons need only contact the pastor of the nearest Seventh Day Adventist Church for information about the nearest clinic.

DEAR READER — Thank you for a most helpful suggestion. I called the nearest Seventh Day Adventist Church and learned that they have the clinics sporadically, whenever enough people ask for a clinic and people are available to hold them. The success rate reported to me was also around 80 per cent. Any one interested should call their nearest Seventh Day Adventist Church and find out when and where the next clinics may be held.

I am told this is a non-denominational service. You don't need to be or have been a member of any church. Religion is not used as a means of achieving success. The only reference to religion is that those who are religious can call on a higher power for help.

I suspect the program varies with the people available in different locations. The local ones I talked to holds meetings for only one and a half hours each evening for the five days of the sessions. A doctor and a nutritionist help with the sessions.

Such clinics have my wholehearted support. It is one thing to know the dangers of smoking and quite another to be able to quit. The success story reported and the availability of such a free service is really an inducement to anyone who wants to quit smoking to try such an avenue.

Tobacco is indeed one of our greatest health hazards in modern society. It is a significant factor in decreasing length of life, particularly in men, as well as detracting from the quality of life.

How do you use the Jacoby transfer on your way to a slam?

You start with the transfer and then bid a new suit. This new suit call is a game force. It may show a two-suit hand. It may just show a feature.

South starts with a transfer to two hearts. His next bid of three diamonds is a game force. North has just 16 points for his notrump, but if South actually has both red suits, North's hand becomes very slammish. His second rebid of three spades shows this slam interest. Without slam interest North would rebid three hearts, three notrump or four diamonds.

South merely goes to four diamonds next to confirm the fact that he really holds a heart-diamond two-suit hand.

North is really encouraged now and bids five clubs as a cue bid at the five level.

South does not know whether North likes diamonds or hearts. It does not matter to him. He jumps to six diamonds, knowing that North will go to six hearts if he likes that suit.

We take a decisive stand here and either pass or bid three hearts. We do have a slight preference for the pass.

The Irish Catholics in this country earn more money than the Italian Catholics and the Italian Catholics earn more than the German Catholics and the German Catholics earn more than the Polish Catholics. Typically, typically. All of them earn more than the Episcopalians. But none of them earn as much as the Jewish Americans. Such be the findings of the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago. What was measured here, clearly, are average family incomes: Jews, $13,340. Irish Catholics $12,426. Italian Catholics, $11,748. German Catholics $11,632. Polish Catholics, $11,298. Don't have the figures at hand on the Protestant denominations. Do know they're lower than the foregoing, though.

LOVE AND WAR

Q—"How does the passenger cabin of a jet airplane rank on your Love and War man's list of places where single girls are most likely to meet eligible men?"

A—It's No. 2, says he. Right after No. 1, saltwater fishing excursion boats, and just ahead of No. 3, engineering supply stores. That's nationwide. In the Southwest, the young lady who meets the most men, eligible or otherwise, is the clerk in a cowboy boot shop.

Thoughts

Do not love the world or the things in the world. If any one loves the world, love for the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the pride of life, is not of the Father but is of the world. — I John 2:15,16.

O Lord, why dost thou cast me off? Why dost thou hide thy face from me? Afflicted and close to death from my youth up, I suffer thy terrors; I am helpless. — Psalm 88:14,15.

"Strength is born in the deep silence of long suffering hearts; not amid joy." — Felicia Hemans, English poet.

84 per cent increase in energy use by year 2000 predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — By the year 2000, Americans will be using 84 per cent more energy than they consumed in 1974, a government study says.

But because of our wasteful habits, more than twice as much fuel — 123 per cent of 1974 production — will be needed, a report by the U.S. Bureau of Mines predicted Wednesday.

The report pointed to the use of electricity as the preferred energy source in homes, business and factories as one major cause of the predicted waste.

In any steam-turbine electric generating plant, about two-thirds of the energy furnished by fuel — coal, oil, gas or atomic — is wasted warming up the air. But, the report said, there may be little alternative to this trend toward increased use of electricity.

In releasing its figures, the bureau downgraded an earlier 1972 consumption prediction for year 2000 by about 15 per cent.

The report said the demand for energy in 2000 will probably not be as great as predicted four years ago because of energy price increases and worldwide political developments.

The forecast did not attempt to determine whether U.S. energy demands might be reduced by new conservation techniques or government regulations but assumed that "existing patterns of resource utilization will continue."

But it pointed out that changes in energy use and lifestyles are possible in the long run, allowing time for changes to work their way through transportation, industrial and other economic systems.

"After 1985," the report said, "more options exist for altering our energy consumption patterns, and we are no longer locked in ... we have options, and whether or not we exercise them will decide our future pattern of energy consumption."

In its only specific example, the report cited the increase in the number of small cars being used and suggested that further fuel savings in the transportation system may be possible.

"While major changes can occur after 1985," the report said, "there is little evidence to indicate that the research necessary to accomplish these major changes is being undertaken."

The study predicted that nuclear power plants, which provided only about 1.5 per cent of total U.S. energy in 1974, will be expanded rapidly and will provide about 28.2 per cent by the year 2000.

The report said the year 2000 will see consumption of coal equal to 2½ times the 1974 levels. While 615.6 million tons of coal were used in 1974; 1.66 billion tons will be needed in the year 2000.

In 1719, France declared war on Spain.

In 1861, Mississippi seceded from the Union.

In 1964, anti-American riots broke out in Panama.

Ten years ago: Communist Chinese Migs shot down a plane flying three Chinese Navy defectors from the mainland to Nationalist-held Taiwan.

Five years ago: The government of Uruguay sent thousands of soldiers and police in search of the British Ambassador, Geoffrey Jackson, who had been kidnaped.

One year ago: President Ford selected Elliot Richardson as U.S. Ambassador to Britain.

Today's birthdays: Former President Nixon is 63 years old. Singer Joan Baez is 35.

Hearings set on solution to multilingual ballot pamphlets

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Public hearings have been set on proposed solutions to the problem of meeting the federal Voter Rights Act without mailing multilingual ballot pamphlets to everyone.

The California Fair Political Practices Commission decided Wednesday to hold a special hearing next Tuesday, and another hearing for a final decision Jan. 16.

The state Political Reform Act, approved by voters in 1974, set strict guidelines for content and format of the ballot pamphlets. A commission spokesman said it's now a question whether they can legally be altered to comply with federal language rules.

Women Fore schedule

Women Fore the Music Center will meet at 10 a.m., Monday, in the Grand Hall, Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, Music Center of Los Angeles County to discuss methods of broadening the base of support for the Music Center and its Resident Groups in the current Music Center Unified Fund annual peal to the private sector of Greater Southern California.

Campaign '76 volunteers of the Music Center Unified Fund must raise $2,000,000 by June 30 if the Center's participating Resident Groups — Los Angeles Philharmonic Association, Southern California Choral Music Association, Music Center Opera Association and Center Theatre Group/Ahmanson Theatre and Mark Taper Forum, whose box office receipts account for only two-thirds of their income, are to continue their excellence of programming and community services.

Women Fore the Music Center is the umbrella under which Resident Groups' affiliated volunteer committees work together toward support of the total Music Center complex.

Mrs. Brian J. Billington, chairman, Women Fore the Music Center, has invited Caroline Ahmanson, who recently returned from a second trip to China, to speak to the volunteers on how the performing arts are supported worldwide and the role women play in this support.

Lawry's charts program

Launching the 1976 cooking class curriculum at Los Angeles based Lawry's California Center will be Rita Leinwand in "Our Colonial Heritage," a class paying tribute to the culinary expertise and famed hospitality of the nation's first epicure, Thomas Jefferson.

Mrs. Leinwand, internationally honored and noted teacher, will present her class on Wednesday and Thursday of next week in three-hour sessions available either day at 1 or 7 p.m. There is a fee.

An avid admirer and enthusiastic student of Jefferson and the colonial period, Mrs. Leinwand will recreate a celebration feast as he would have served it in his home, Monticello.

Reservations for the event may be made by calling 213-225-2491, extension 258.

Rally charted Jan. 17

The San Gabriel Valley Chapter of the Ninety-Nines, an international organization of licensed women pilots whose first president was Amelia Earhart, is sponsoring a photo rally, Jan. 17, beginning at 10 a.m. at Cable Airport in Upland.

An aim in conducting the rally is to promote safety and proficiency in general aviation flying. A spot landing contest, lunch and awarding of trophies will follow the flight.

Interested licensed pilots may obtain additional information by contacting the chapter at 626-5051.

Workshop slated for three months

"Parents Without Custody," the first of three workshops for one-parent families, will be presented through UCLA Extension on Jan. 18.

The initial segment, open to single men and women who do not have physical custody of their children, is part of a new program called "Building Community: The One-Parent Family." The series will explore important aspects on one-parent family life, with small group discussions led by single parents.

Isolina Ricci, director of single parent program, Family Services of Santa Monica, will coordinate the program, which will meet from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in Room 1209B Bunche Hall, UCLA.

Other workshops will include "The Veteran One-Parent Family" on Feb. 8 and "The One-Parent Family Community" on March 7.

Lengthy

No matter what skirt length is being touted as "the" look, if it makes you look dowdy or otherwise unattractive, don't wear it. Find a length that suits your build and stick to it.

Unique product marketed

A unique furniture care product, is being introduced in Southern California by Johnson Wax.

The product combines polishes and cleaners in a soft, pre-moistened disposable cloth for convenient care of fine wood furniture, as well as vinyl, Formica, appliances and a variety of other surfaces. The patented non-woven cloth makes it easy to shine not only flat surfaces, but also the irregular surfaces of chair rungs and table legs, antique picture frames and other items with hard-to-get-at nooks and crevices, according to the company. It leaves a high shine and needs no buffing. Each durable cloth can be used over again and again and only needs to be replaced when it dries out or becomes heavily soiled.

Each resealable package contains 12 disposable cloths.

Suede care

Sueded vinyl upholstery fabric on furniture provides a soft, rich-looking nap. But the good looks belie the easy care. Most dirt brushes away with a little help from detergent or soap and water. Along with the elegance, durability and cleanability, there are colors to suit every room scheme.

African leaders expected to opt for Russ-backed Angola faction

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The leaders of Africa's nonwhite governments will unite at a summit meeting this weekend to endorse the Marxist Popular Movement (MPLA) in Angola, which the Soviet Union and Cuba support, African foreign ministers predicted today.

Some African observers said the endorsement of the leftist faction in the Angolan civil war would be coupled with a request that it negotiate with its anti-Marxist foes, who are supported by the United States and South Africa.

Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., told newsmen the United States should go along with the African consensus. Diggs, attending the summit as an observer from the Congressional Black Caucus, said President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger have lowered American diplomatic standing in black Africa by joining white-ruled South Africa in support of the Angolan National Front (FNLA) and the National Union (UNITA).

The African foreign ministers begin meeting late today to prepare for a three-day summit meeting of the Organization of African Unity opening Saturday. The crisis session on Angola is the OAU's first emergency summit since the league of nonwhite African governments was formed 12 years ago.

Diplomats reported that Chad on Wednesday became the 21st of the OAU's 46 members to announce recognition of the MPLA government in Luanda. They said Ethiopia was delaying its recognition until after the summit to preserve host-country impartiality in the debate.

No country has recognized the joint government proclaimed by the FNLA and UNITA.

Diggs called on the Ford administration to halt arms and financial aid to the FNLA and UNITA. He said an unconditional American withdrawal would put pressure on the Soviet Union to stop arms shipments to the MPLA and on Cuba to withdraw the troops it has sent to fight for the MPLA.

After 12 years of fighting Portuguese colonial rule, the three Angolan factions have been locked in a civil war for control of the rich African territory ever since Portugal announced early last year that it was getting out. When independence came in November, the MPLA took over Luanda, the capital, and central Angola.

Diplomats said the summit meeting would also probably make a cease-fire appeal and would condemn South Africa's intervention, which they said more than anything else tipped black African opinion away from the FNLA and UNITA.

The meeting was also likely to call on all foreign powers to pull out of Angola. But many African leaders draw a distinction between the Soviet Union, an MPLA backer for more than 10 years before independence, and the United States.

Some Socialist governments like Tanzania and Mozambique back the MPLA partly because they have the same political ideology. Others, like Ethiopia, feel that a coalition of the three Angolan movements would never last if it could be formed and that the war can end only if the MPLA prevails.

Foreign Minister Joachim Chissano of Mozambique, another former Portuguese colony that has a leftist government, told newsmen the summit should admit the MPLA government to OAU membership. Eteki said this could be done if 24 states — a majority — approved. But he said the MPLA has not requested OAU membership yet.

Foreign Minister Omar Arteh of Somalia said his government would consider sending troops to help expel South African troops from southern Angola if the MPLA asked for them. But most OAU members have been cool to a proposal by President Idi Amin of Uganda, the current chairman of the continental organization, that the OAU provide peacekeeping units in Angola.

Solon, wife give Viet youngsters to mother

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A state senator who helped other American families adopt Vietnamese children and took two children into his own home has given the two up so they can be with their real mother.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh, along with his wife, Linda, gave the children to their mother and stepfather in Charleston, S.C..

DeCamp first saw the chilren during one of two trips he made to South Vietnam to help organize Operation Babylift, a project that brought thousands of Vietnamese children to the United States prior to the Communist takeover.

Hung, 6, and his sister, Tam, 7, will live with their mother, who has married American Thomas Mallard, DeCamp said.

DeCamp said he initially understood the children's parents had died

"When the mother turned out to be looking for them over here, it just seemed unbelievable,"

"The funny thing was that in two trips to Vietnam I helped bring out about 2,000 children. And after helping to organize Babylift and working with organizations to find homes for children, I lose the two I had the most love for."

Bill Sharman on the way out?

There is growing concern that Bill Sharman's tenure as Lakers coach is coming to an end.

The return of John Barnhill to the coaching staff added fuel to the fire. Barnhill ostensibly was added to give Sharman more help on the bench.

Larry Creger moves from the bench to the upper stands to "get a better overall view of what's going on." Barnhill gives the Lakers a full time three-man coaching staff.

Normally, it would be regarded as simply another innovative move. That's what the Lakers are saying it is.

But this has not been a normal year. The Lakers, aside from Kareem Abdul Jabbar, have been less than scintillating much of the time.

They are already practically out of reach of a division title. In the all-important loss column, they trail Golden State by 10 games.

If you are a regular listener to the Laker broadcasts, you can't help but notice Chick Hearn's criticism. Always outspoken, Hearn has been criticizing Sharman's coaching, especially on the call-in program before the games, with increasing frequency and intensity.

The Lakers last year had their worst record since moving to Los Angeles. They had no superstars last year and the fans, understandably, stayed away in droves.

This year they acquired Jabbar who just may be the best who ever played the game. Still the fans stay away. Owner Jack Kent Cooke cannot and will not tolerate this.

Lakers faded fast

After a fast start in which the Lakers won their first 14 games at home, they have faded faster than a two-dollar shirt.

Barnhill, in the past, has taken over the Lakers' coaching for a total of 21 games in Sharman's absence. He has the credentials (ability) to be a head coach.

That was the reason Barnhill left the Lakers after last season. He wanted a head coaching position and thought he was close to landing one (at San Diego in the ABA).

Sharman welcomed Barnhill back. But it was not HIS idea. He admitted it came from owner Jack Kent Cooke. Cooke may have gotten the idea from Hearn.

Don't forget, Chick Hearn is not JUST the team's broadcaster. He carries the title assistent general manager. Aside from the Cooke relatives in the organization, Hearn is probably closer to the Laker owner than anyone including general manager Pete Newell.

After every game, it is Hearn who calls Cooke and reports on the game

As he has pointed out, the Lakers HAVE NOT hustled much of the time. The Lakers bench most of the time sits like a bunch of mummies no matter how close the game.

The Lakers ARE horrible at running out the clock and getting the last basket at the end of a quarter. They may be the most inept team in pro basketball at this.

Instead of passing off, one player, usually Gail Goodrich, dribbles around until the clock has almost run out. Many times it runs out before they can get a shot off. If they do manage, they usually miss. The passing has been infrequent and unimpressive.

Chick puts heat on

This week, Hearn has seemingly done a turn around and has been praising Sharman. But in past weeks, especially on the "Laker Hot Line program" (heard prior to home games only), Hearn has really put the heat on.

Some of the things this reporter has heard Chick say, in answering fans' questions about the Lakers are:

—"Last year I was more disappointed in the Lakers' play than in any year I've been associated with them. This year I'm MORE disappointed in them."

—"The team (not just this game, but most all season) just doesn't appear to be motivated."

—"There is no spark on the bench. That's the assistent coach's responsibility."

—"I think Bill Sharman is in a slump."

—"I told Mr. Cooke I don't think the fans are getting their money's worth. He told me they will from now on."

This is by far the strongest job of criticizing ANY Laker coach that Hearn has ever done. I like and admire both men in their work.

But it makes you think. Sharman was hit by major personal tragedy twice within a few months two years ago. First his wife died (cancer) and then his father (heart attack).

Maybe the personal tragedy took some of the deep drive out of Bill Sharman. Maybe he isn't the coach he used to be. I hope this is not the case.

Trojans not so fortunate

Bruins can give sigh of relief

By The Associated Press

UCLA Coach Gene Bartow gave a sigh of relief. "I thought it was going in," he said. "It had the right angle, and it sure looked good to me."

But Bartow, who succeeded John Wooden at UCLA, was wrong and that's why third-ranked UCLA, the defending NCAA champion, is 1-0 after its Pacific-8 Conference basketball opener.

Oregon's Mike Drummond, a 5-foot-8 sophomore guard, barely missed a half-court desperation toss as time ran out Thursday night and UCLA escaped with a 62-61 victory at Eugene's highly partisan McArthur Court.

Only a few seconds earlier, Oregon worked the ball to Greg Ballard, the former Garey High star, who missed a 10-footer that would have sent the aggressive Ducks ahead.

Forty miles away, 18th-ranked Southern California ran into Oregon State and hot-shooting Rocky Smith and suffered an 80-70 upset loss in another Pac-8 opener.

Tonight, California entertains unbeaten, eighth-rated Washington and Stanford is at home against Washington State.

In the last hectic moments, Bartow and the Bruins were facing a possible repeat of a 1974 appearance in Eugene. The Ducks upset UCLA 56-51 the day after Oregon State surprised the defending national champions 61-57.

But UCLA, which goes against Oregon State in Corvallis on Saturday, held on to win a game that left Bartow a happy man and Oregon Coach Dick Harter a picture of disappointment.

"We didn't make a mistake in the last three minutes," Harter said. "It's so hard to lose when you don't make any mistakes in the end."

Oregon, now 7-7 over-all, trailed by 10 points with six minutes remaining but pulled within 62-61 on Ron Lee's layin with 25 seconds left.

The Ducks' Danny Mack, a freshman, then leaped to steal an inbounds pass, Oregon called a timeout and Lee fed Ballard for a short jumper that fell away.

UCLA center Ralph Drollinger rebounded, was fouled and missed a free throw with four seconds left. Drummond then let loose the desperation shot.

Drollinger "went to the boards awfully hard, and he played his best game of the year," Bartow said. Drollinger had 13 points and 11 rebounds.

The taller Bruins controlled the boards 48-31.

Rich Washington, a former Portland prep star, led the Bruins with 23 points, all but four in the first half. However, he had to be careful after getting his fourth foul with about nine minutes to go.

Lee had 17 points and Stu Jackson 15 for Oregon.

"It's not easy for a junior college transfer to break into the Pac-8, but he did it," Oregon State Coach Ralph Miller said of Smith, who was 12-17 from the floor and 5-5 from the free throw line.

"We played very poorly against a very good team and when we do that, we can't win," said Bob Boyd, coach of Southern Cal, now 11-2.

"Two things really hurt: Our foul trouble and our turnovers," said Boyd, whose Trojans also lost a seven-game winning streak. "I didn't think we could come up with a miracle finish...because we had three key people with four fouls."

The Trojans, who had won seven previous road games, had 27 turnovers to Oregon State's 14.

Safford sat down with his third foul with 8:36 left in the first half. Then, 26 seconds after the break, he went to the bench after picking up his fourth personal. While he was out the second time, Oregon State pulled ahead to stay.

It was the 400th career coaching victory for OSU's Ralph Miller. "I've had a lot of good athletes over the years to make it possible," he said. "The important thing tonight was to win the conference opener."

Southern Cal now moves into Eugene to face Oregon on Saturday night.

Three other ranked teams were in action Thursday night as No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas nipped Seattle 90-89; No. 17 Minnesota stopped Illinois 77-68; and 19th-rated Michigan coasted past Winsconsin 106-81.

TOO LATE

Marques Johnson of UCLA got caught flatfooted on a shot by Oregon's Stu Jackson. Johnson barely got up on tip toes in attempt to defend. Bruins finally won, 62-61.

Bearcats, Braves vie at Bonita

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

A Hacienda League meeting between Alta Loma and Bonita will highlight tonight's slate of 11 basketball games involving area teams.

Alta Loma's Braves ran their record to 12-1 Wednesday with an easy 74-45 win over San Dimas and have definitely established themselves as the team to beat this year in the Hacienda.

Bonita's Bearcats, by beating twice-defending league champ Walnut, 55-54, Wednesday on the Mustangs' court, have set themselves up as the team with perhaps the best shot at knocking off the Braves.

That sets up tonight's early-season crucial between the two squads at Bonita's gym at 8 p.m.

Other H.L. games tonight will include San Dimas at Ontario and Walnut at Gladstone.

In the San Antonio League, Garey, coming off a league-opening whipping of Damien, 57-51, at the Spartans' gym Tuesday, will host Montclair, while Damien will visit Claremont. Chino will be at Ganesha and Upland at Pomona to round out SAL action.

Finally, Chaffey will play at Pacific, La Verne Lutheran will go to Big Bear and American Christian will travel to Huntington Valley Christian. All games will begin at 8 p.m.

"We have a very balanced team," said Alta Loma's coach Jeff McCall at midweek, hitting upon the chief factor in his Braves' success so far.

Anthony Vasquez, the leading scorer for Alta Loma, is averaging 10.4 points per game, and the lowest scorer of the regular starting five, Jeff Anderson, averages 7.8. In between are Matt Roberts (8.6), Rich Davis (8.3), and Jamie Eagle (8.0).

"It's really a team effort when we play," said Davis, a 6-foot-8 junior center and the Progress Bulletin's Player of the Week for his efforts in the Chino Christmas tournament, which Alta Loma won. "We all pull for each other and help each other out."

McCall points out that his squad has been ahead after the first quarter in every one of its 13 games this season. Even in the Braves' 72-63 loss to Garey in the championship game of the Upland-Montclair tournament, the led after the first eight minutes, 21-20.

"We rely on our defense," said McCall, "and we're very tough on defense in the early going. Our guys realize that it's easier to hold somebody off than to try to catch up."

Bonita also plays a good defensive game, and did so in its win over Walnut Wednesday.

"Our defense got us the early lead by generating our offense," said Bearcat coach Remi Tremblay after the Walnut game, in which his squad used a full court press to take a 14-2 lead.

The Bearcats are not so balanced offensively as the Braves, and rely primarily on center Steve Sly and forward Aaron Bitran for scoring punch.

Flyers eager for Russians

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Flyers beat the Los Angeles Kings 6-4 Thursday night, but all the defending National Hockey League Champions could talk about was Sunday's war with the Soviet Central Army Team.

"I don't like 'em," said Flyers All-Star Bobby Clarke, who played against the Russians in the Soviet Union in 1972.

"They'll cheat, take every advantage," Clarke said. "The Russians are always pictured as underdogs and they're not."

Flyers' coach Fred Shero admitted he was looking past the Los Angeles game.

"I've been waiting a long time for this game (the Russians). "It will be very satisfying to me if we do win."

Shero said the Russians were prepared for the Flyers.

"They've probably watched us ten thousand times (on films)," Shero observed. "The thing is building up. It will be greater tomorrow and the next day. The fact that nobody (in the NHL) has beaten them and left it up to us means something. The players want to do something about it."

Shero said he wanted to win because he doesn't believe in the Russian system, the way their people are forced to live.

"I don't believe in the way they train athletes," the Flyers' coach said. "They train them like animals. Human beings deserve more freedom. I don't think Joe Namath could play for the Russians."

Shero made it plain, however, that beating the Russians, or losing to them in just one game, won't mean anything.

"If we win I won't say that we're better," Shero said. "And I think they'll be gracious and not claim they're better. But their coaches will talk a lot. And if they lose they (coaches) will blame it on somebody on the team."

Shero said there was nothing mystic about the Central Army players, who have won two and tied one in their brief competition against NHL teams.

"They are the same as we are," Shero proclaimed. "They eat and drink and have sex. Maybe we don't like their leaders, but what can we do."

Shero planned a team meeting for today and a long look at the film of Thursday night's 5-2 Russian victory over the Boston Bruins.

Shero made one point clear.

"The Russians aren't the best hockey players in the world," he said. "Hell, give us a year to train a team and it would be no contest. We even got better reporters here."

Clarke, the NHL's most valuable player last season, said he read the story in a national sports magazine in which the Russians describe him as the dirtiest player in the world.

"I don't care about that," said Clarke after scoring two goals and an assist against Los Angeles to boost his league leading scoring total to 65 points. "We're not carrying the league pride, but our own pride. We're the best team in hockey and we want to prove it."

Mountie cagers need an opponent

Right now, about the only person who believes that Mt. San Antonio College will play a basketball game Saturday night is Mountie coach Gene Victor.

His squad is scheduled to open South Coast Conference play at Grossmont Saturday night in El Cajon, but a slight hitch has developed.

Grossmont is not going to be there.

It seems the Griffins are over in Hawaii this week playing some of the JC squads on the Islands. Their Hawaii trip was scheduled prior to Grossmont's entry into the South Coast Conference, and when the conference schedule was announced Grossmont turned up with a game this Saturday night.

Since the Griffin cage squad will be somewhere over the Pacific enroute home at that time, it's obviously going to be pretty difficult for them to play Victor's MSAC squad Saturday.

The latest report from South Coast Conference President Dave Valentine is that Grossmont will forfeit the contest.

"I received a phone call today from Grossmont school officials saying they will have to forfeit the game," Valentine said in a conversation with the Progress Bulletin.

"It's not official, as I have not received written confirmation of the forfeit, but I don't see where Grossmont has any alternatives," Valentine continued. "The conference viewpoint is that conference games take precedence over all others. Grossmont should have made other arrangements to accommodate MSAC on Saturday night, and if they are not there to play I don't see how it can be anything but a forfeit."

Receiving a forfeit should make a coach happy, but Victor is anything but delighted with the turn of events.

"The whole thing is shocking to me," said an upset Victor. "I can't imagine how Grossmont allowed a schedule foul-up to happen.

"Our team needs a game badly, and we are going on the assumption that we are going to play Saturday no matter what," Victor noted. "If we dont' play Saturday it will mean our team will go 10 days between games and that's a situation I don't want to have happen."

"We will practice through Friday, get on the bus Saturday, and head down there just like we are going to play," the Mountie mentor explained. "I would think we will probably have to show up anyway in order to make the forfeit official, so that's what I'm planning on doing unless I hear otherwise."

Broncs host Athletes in Action Saturday

Poly faces big weekend

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

After 11 consecutive road games, Cal Poly's basketball team will finally play a home game Saturday night (8 p.m.) but Coach Don Hogan isn't sure whether it's a good idea or not.

"Playing at home may not help us since it appears we're over our heads again," Hogan said about the game against the Athletes in Action-USA, which is probably the best basketball team to play in the Pomona area this season.

But first things first.

Poly completes its string of road games tonight (8 p.m.) against Cal State Dominguez Hills at Compton College. Following another road date Tuesday night at Azusa Pacific, the Broncs will open California College Athletic Association play a week from tonight by hosting Cal State Northridge.

Actually, tonight's game is more important for the Broncs since the Athletes in Action contest doesn't count in the records.

"Everybody is healthy and eligible," Hogan said after seeing his team for the first time after a full week's vacation.

Hogan's biggest problem is to trim his squad to 10 players for tonight. It's more of a problem now since Mike Kluge (6-7), a transfer from the University of Montana, gains his eligibility for tonight's game.

Kluge, who played for a state championship JC team at Hancock, will be a big help to Poly for the rest of the season but Hogan warns not to expect too much too soon.

"Mike won't be an instant star," Hogan said. "It will take a while to get back in condition."

Hogan will probably start his regular lineup of forwards Jack Gamulin and Paul Newton, center Mark Bernhard and guards Joe Sills and Tom Ispas in the weekend games.

Sills is listed among the national leaders in scoring (23.5 average) and free throw shooting (93.7 per cent). Gamulin is scoring at a 18.7 clip while Newton leads in rebounds (10.4) and Ispas in assists (4.5).

Poly enters the weekend with a 4-6 record with the losses being to Houston, Texas, Louisville, North Dakota, North Dakota State and Stanford on the road.

Tonight's game is a rematch of the season opener when Poly defeated Dominguez, 112-75, in the first round of the La Verne Tournament. The Toros carry a 5-5 record.

"I would think both teams have improved since that first game," Hogan said. "I just hope Dominguez hasn't improved more than we have. We know Dominguez will be running and pressing us."

Athletes in Action, a touring team representing the Campus Crusade for Christ, is 15-7 for the season after Wednesday's impressive 78-53 win over Oklahoma.

Among the AIA victims this season are nationally-ranked Cincinnati (86-81), Vanderbilt (90-58), Houston (89-70) and San Diego State (89-88). Losses have been to the likes of Alabama, Purdue, North Carolina State, Texas El Paso, Louisville and Mississippi State.

Poly will have its problems staying with AIA's size.

At center is Dan Knight (6-11), the former Kansas star. The starting forwards are Tim Hall (6-8) from Colorado State and Irvin Kiffin (6-9) of Oklahoma Baptist. The guards figure to be Brad Hoffman (5-10) of North Carolina and Dave Lower (6-3) of Linfield (Ore.).

On the bench are former Oregon State stars Charlie Neal and Doug Oxsen and Sammy High of Tulsa.

"We have two teams traveling around the country this year," says AIA spokesman David Naidl. "The team coming to Pomona is our premier team. It's the best we've fielded in nine years and is playing the toughest schedule of any of our teams have ever played. We are playing 39 games—all on the road—against outstanding college teams."

BRONCO NOTES — Broderick Hunter, the former All-CIF star at Ganesha High, has transferred to Poly from Arizona State. He won't be eligible until next January.

The six CCAA teams have compiled a 38-26 record so far with 19 of the losses being to major college opponents.

Newton, a senior, is currently eighth in career scoring at Poly with 650 points and sixth in rebounding with 497. Sills is already 10th in career scoring after only 31 games with 630 points.

Clarke, Potvin head All-Stars

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Clarke of the Philadelphia Flyers and the New York Islanders' Denis Potvin were unanimous choices to play on the Clarence Campbell Conference team in the National Hockey League's 29th annual all-star game at Philadelphia Jan. 20.

Clarke and Potvin each recieved 135 points, based on five points for a first-place choice, three for a second and one for a third.

The Flyers, leaders of the Clarence Campbell Conference, placed five players among the first 12 selected. The Islanders have three players on the team.

Four other teams are represented among those players chosen by the Professional Hockey Writers Association in the nine conference cities, it was announced Thursday.

The Campbell Conference allstars, coached by Philadelphia's Fred Shero, will oppose a similar squad from the Prince of Wales Conference, coached by Floyd Smith of the Buffalo Sabres.

Next week Shero will name eight additional players to complete the 20-man team, which includes two goaltenders and 18 forwards and defensemen. One condition of his selections is that he must have one representative from each of the nine conference teams on his squad.

Resch, Stephenson, Redmond, Russell, Leach and Harris will be making their first appearances in all-star game competition.

Clarke will be playing in his seventh all-star game and Unger his fifth. The St. Louis center was named the most valuable player of the 1974 all-star game at Chicago, won by the West all-stars 6-4 against the East.

Potvin has been in two previous all-star games while this will be the second appearance for Watson, Barber and Vickers.

The Campbell all-stars, coached by Shero, lost 7-1 to the Prince of Wales team at Montreal in 1975.

Miller's desert string halted

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller's fantastic string of successes in the Arizona desert—he had led every round of every tournament in this state since Jan. 12, 1974—came to a wet, watery and woeful end.

"It was an easy seven," Miller said with a half-hearted reach for humor in a completely humorless situation.

"Not only did I hit it in the water, I had to three-putt on top of it," said Miller, bitterly disappointed, completely subdued, almost in tears and speaking just above a whisper.

All his troubles were centered on the 460-yard, par-four 18th hole of the Tucson National Golf Club course.

In the gathering gloom of late afternoon, Miller went to that final tee needing a birdie to tie journeyman Gibby Gilbert at six-under par 66 for the first-round lead Thursday in the $200,000 Tuscon Open.

But Miller pushed his drive to the right in the glimmering water of a man-made lake that has provided so many heartaches in this old event. He finished the hole with a triple bogey, a round of 70 and was four strokes back in the first competitive round of the 1976 pro golf tour.

"It was a terrible shot," Miller said.

"I never thought I would do what I did but I did it. It just came from out of the blue. I can't believe it."

"But I'm not in bad position. I'll be all right. Really, I played pretty good. I just hit that one bad shot."

But that one shot turned the whole tournament around.

From his customary position among the leaders Miller, record-setting winner of this event the last couple of seasons, suddenly was well back in the pack.

Tom Weiskopf, who became the center of a raging controversy when he missed the cup for the last two rounds of this tournament a year ago, rode a birdie-eagle-par-birdie string to a 67, one stroke back of the leading Gilbert, a consistent money-winner and a one-time winner in seven years of tour activity.

Weiskopf, however, declined to offer a direct challenge to Miller.

"I can't worry about what Johnny Miller is doing or what Jack Nicklaus is doing," Weiskopf said. "I can't be looking at the scoreboard thinking they're so many ahead or I'm so many behind. All I can do is try to post a score, play the golf course and play the best I can."

The group at 68, two off the pace and two ahead of Miller, was composed of Dave Hill, Phil Rogers, Curtis Sifford, Larry Nelson, Frank Conner and Jim Simons.

British Open champion Tom Watson was at 70 despite losing four strokes to par over the last four holes.

Lee Trevino matched par 72 despite three three-putts.

"It always takes me four or five tournaments to get my game going," shrugged Trevino.

Arnold Palmer, now 46 and without an American victory for three years, struggled to a fat 77 and appeared likely to miss the cut for the last two days' activity.

Gilbert keyed his round on his best putting for a couple of seasons. He needed only 29 strokes on the big, bumpy putting surfaces that have been dyed a bright green for the benefit of the national television cameras that will provide coverage of portions of Saturday's and Sunday's play.

Gilbert birdied four of a five-hole stretch on his front nine with putts of 15, 20, 15 and 15 feet, reached one par five in two, chipped to three feet on another long hole and needed only a six-foot putt for a deuce.

Steelers' Blount gets defense award

NEW YORK (AP) — Cornerback Mel Blount, Pittsburgh's premier stealer in the Steelers' airtight defense, was named the National Football League's Defensive Player of the Year today by The Associated Press.

The six-year veteran from Southern University blossomed into stardom with his league-leading 11 interceptions during the regular season. That included a streak in which he had at least one in six straight games, only the ninth player ever to do that in the NFL. And in three games he picked off a pair of passes.

That performance, and his all-around play on a team whose "Steel Curtain" defensive line gets most of the plaudits, earned Blount 30 of the 78 votes cast by nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Defensive tackles took the next four places in the balloting—Curley Culp of the Houston Oilers and John Dutton of the Baltimore Colts with 10 votes apiece, Wally Chambers of the Chicago Bears with eight and Joe Greene of the Steelers with seven. Others receiving nominations included safety Cliff Harris of Dallas, defensive tackles Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles and Otis Sistrunk of Oakland, and three more Steelers— defensive end L.C. Greenwood and linebackers Jack Ham and Jack Lambert.

"Mel always had the potential for the type of season he had this year, but in the past he wasn't holding onto the ball the way he has this year," said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll. "He has great ability and we expected him to play as well as he has.

"He is now a much more confident player and, as a result, he's more aggressive out there," Noll added. "Mel is more mature as an individual and as a player now and I think you can see it in the way he plays."

His 11 thefts established a Steelers' single-season mark and placed him third in the Pittsburgh record book with 23 for his career.

In addition to his interceptions, which he returned for 121 total yards, Blount also had 29 unassisted tackles and was in on 21 more during the season, a couple of statistics which defensive coordinator Bud Carson stressed.

Teenagers take medal

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A pair of shy teenagers skated off with the first gold medal at the U.S. Figure Skating Championships Thursday night.

Senior pairs favorites Tai Babilonia, 15, and Randy Gardner, 17, both of Los Angeles, put together a lively, daring five-minute free-skating routine that included seven different lifts.

All but one judge gave them 5.8 ratings out of a possible 6.0.

Both agreed it was "our best performance ever."

Taking the silver medal were Alice Cook of Wilmington, Del., and William Fauver of Cleveland. Both groups will compete for the U.S. Olympic team in Innsbruck, Austria next month.

Emily Benenson and Jack Courtney of Colorado Springs, Colo., won the bronze medal and will be the alternates at the Olympics.

In other Thursday action, Dorothy Hamill of Riverside, Conn., took another step toward a third-straight ladies crown by pacing the short program.

Unheralded David Santee of Park Ridge, Ill., grabbed the early lead in the senior men's competition, winning the compulsory figures. Defending champions Colleen O'Connor and Jim Millns of Colorado Springs led the gold dance competition after two compulsory dances.

Miss Babilonia and Gardner, who were silver medalists last year and assumed the role of favorites after the 1975 champions retired, attributed their strong performance to tougher training, which helped them adjust to the 6,000-foot altitude at the Broadmoor World Arena.

"We knew the altitude would be difficult," Gardner said, "and I think we also got a lift because we knew we were training for a possible spot on the Olympic team."

Rosenbloom rips Rozelle

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Los Angeles Rams' owner Carroll Rosenbloom, repeatedly referring to Pete Rozelle as "his majesty," says in an interview the National Football League commissioner has been left in limbo by recent blunders and that the league is suffering because of it.

In the interview in today's San Bernardino Sun - Telegram, Rosenbloom said Rozelle spends his time "listening to lawyers and accountants instead of running the league."

Rosenbloom, alluding to recent court decisions which have cut back the league's power, said, "...in recent years, we've been beaten on all fronts," the newspaper reported.

It quoted Rosenbloom as saying, "The commissioner is supposed to act in the best interests of the players and the owners, but because of Ed Garvey (executive director of the NFL Players Association), the players don't consider Rozelle their commissioner. And because of the lawyers he's listening to, Rozelle hasn't been helping the owners. He's in limbo.

"A change must be made so we have a viable commissioner who can act in the interest of both the players and the owners."

Rosenbloom added he hoped Rozelle would regain that status among players and owners.

"I'm not trying to destroy the commissioner, I just want him back doing his job," Rosenbloom said in the interview. "Once he rids himself of these non-football people, the better off we will be. And I feel certain that's what he's going to do.

"He has to."

Rosenbloom, recently fined $5,000 by Rozelle for criticizing NFL officials, commented, "There have been a lot of social changes lately that have passed the commissioner by and freedom of speech is one of them," according to the report.

G.D. slates fencing event

Three dozen entries include former national champions Joe Elliot, Carl Christie and Louis Goldberg all from Los Angeles and former Pacific Coast Champion Bernie Guzenske of Lancaster.

The event, to be held at the General Dynamics recreational facility, will start at 11 a.m. and run until approximately 5 p.m. It is open to the public with free admission.

Sixth place for Ontarian

Wagenhoffer totaled 36 ordinals and 65.40 points. He is eighth in the standings with 53 ordinals and 53.72 points.

ACA loses, 67-43

COSTA MESA — American Christian dropped a 67-43 decision to Huntington Valley Christian here Thursday night in a high school basketball outing.

American will try to get back on the winning track Monday night as it will host Victor Valley Christian at LeRoy Boys' Home in La Verne. Tipoff time for that contest is set for 8 p.m.

Ontario (6-6) will try for its second league win tonight against San Dimas, still without victory after nine tries. The Jaguars beat Sierra Vista Wednesday, 76-65.

Meanwhile, Walnut (4-9) will try for its first league win at Gladstone, 53-51 winner over Royal Oak in overtime Wednesday.

Garey (8-5) will play host to Montclair (3-7), a team that surprised Ganesha Tuesday, 63-61. Damien (6-6) will try to even its league record against Claremont, (5-6) 60-58 winner over Pomona Tuesday, while the Red Devils (2-8) play host to Upland (1-9). The Highlanders' only victory came at the expense of the Devils by a 50-41 score in the Chino tourney.

Chino (5-6) and Ganesha (7-6) will do battle at the Giant gym. Chino dumped Upland Tuesday, 65-52.

Friends meet in Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP)— Memories of the Rose Bowl and the Orange Bowl should come flooding back for some Hula bowl players Saturday, when they find themselves knocking some familiar heads.

The 30th Hula Bowl will be nationally televised beginning at 3 p.m. EST.

Defensive lineman Don Dufek and defensive back Dan Jilek of Michigan will be on the East team where they will have another shot at three Oklahoma standouts on the West: quarterback Steve Davis, end Tinker Owens and running back Joe Washington.

Ohio State players, however, may entertain some grudges from their 23-10 loss to UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

The Buckeyes are represented on the East team by quarterback Cornelius Greene, wide receiver Brian Baschnagel and defensive back Tim Fox. Two-time Heisman trophy winner Archie Griffin, who broke his hand in the Rose Bowl, will be on the cover of the Hula Bowl program but not on the field.

UCLA quarterback John Sciarra and offensive lineman Randy Cross will play for the West, but Greene is entertaining no notions of revenge.

"The Rose Bowl, as far as I'm concerned, is over and it's something in the past," he said. "I learned to put personal goals aside a long time ago so playing against Sciarra in this game is just that."

There will be no Sugar Bowl nostalgia, since Alabama is not represented, but Penn State contributed linebacker Gregg Buttle and offensive lineman Tom Rafferty to the East squad.

Any leftover hostility from the Fiesta Bowl will have to be put aside, since Arizona State defensive back Mike Haynes and Nebraska running back Tony Davis and defensive lineman Bob Martin are on the West team.

Hynes has no beef against the Cornhuskers, but he is still rankled that the undefeated Sun Devils were runners-up in the final Associated Press poll.

"But to tell the truth, because of the way the polls treated us in the past, I knew we wouldn't be rated number one," Haynes said.

If the polls are a measure of coaching genius, the West has the edge. Oklahoma's Barry Switzer and his assistant, Larry Lacewell, are directing the West, with help from Hawaii's Charley Kaaihue.

Sports briefs

Winner replaces Chuck Weber, who resigned. Winner, fired in midseason by the Jets, was named in a joint statement by new Coach Bill Johnson and Paul Brown, vice president and general manager.

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The South squad elected quarterback Richard Todd of Alabama and defensive back James Hunter of Grambling as co-captains Thursday for the 27th annual Senior Bowl all-star game Sunday.

The 6-foot-1, 206-pound Todd will share quarterbacking duties with Virginia's Scott Gardner. Hunter, a 6-2, 193-pound speedster, will direct the defense.

SANTA CLARA (AP) — The Santa Clara Broncos lost their top scorer, Vester Robinson, for the remainder of the basketball season Thursday when he was declared scholastically ineligible by the school.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Monbouquette, who pitched 11 seasons in the major leagues with the Boston Red Sox, Detroit Tigers and San Francisco Giants, has been named manager of the New York Mets' farm club at Wausau, Wis., of the Class A Midwest League.

BUFFALO — Bob Shaw resigned as assistant coach of the National Football League's Buffalo Bills to become general manager of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League.

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — Jay Robinson of Los Angeles displaced Butch Soper as leader in the $65,000 Alameda Open Bowling Tournament Thursday night by winning five of his eight matches while Soper won only three.

Robinson totaled 5,937 for 26 games, including 150 bonus pins for his five match-game triumphs. Soper, of Huntington Beach, Calif., was five pins back with 5,932.

Gary Dickinson of Fort Worth, Tex., kept his third-place standing with 5,924, and Mark Roth of Staten Island, N.Y., had the high block of the night, 1,791, and moved up from sixth to fourth at 5,890.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Directors of the corporation owning the San Francisco Giants meet today to consider offers for purchase of the baseball team, including proposals from two groups reported to have entered the bidding only this week.

An $11 million offer was made for the National League Thursday by a combine including Raymond Rossi of New York and Robert Short, former owner of the Washington-Texas baseball team, the San Francisco Chronicle said today.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs announced Thursday the hiring of Harry Dunlop as their third base coach to replace Irv Noren who retired at the end of last season.

Dunlop, 42, has been coaching for the Kansas City Royals the last seven years.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Freddie Boyd, a first round draft choice of the Philadelphia 76ers in 1972, and now relegated to third-line playing time, says he wants to be traded.

Boyd disclosed that he has changed agents to speed up a trade.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. — The historic Ormand Garrage, used by automobile pioneers Henry Ford, Barney Oldfield, R.E. Olds, Louis Chevrolet and others to prepare their cars for racing, was gutted by fire.

MEXICO CITY — Mexico's Raul Ramirez beat Cliff Richey of the United States 6-2, 6-7, 7-6 in the quarterfinals of the $64,000 Serfin World Championship Tennis Tournament.

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia upset second-seeded John Alexander of Australia 7-6, 6-7, 6-3 in the second round of the $64,000 World Championship Tennis Tournament.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — Top-seeded Onny Parun of New Zealand defeated Colin Dibley of Australia 1-6, 7-6, 7-6, 6-3 in quarter-final action of the New Zealand Open Tennis Championships

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rose, noted for hustling on the baseball field, is hustling around the country speaking at dinners and collecting awards.

The Cincinnati third baseman blitzed in from a dinner in Iowa to pick up the Hickock Professional Athlete of the Year Award for 1975 Thurday and then rushed off for a dinner at Dayton, Ohio.

"I was in Denison, Iowa, for a dinner last night," Rose said at the Hickok luncheon, where he received a belt valued at more than $15,000.

"I got home to Cincinnati at 3:15 a.m., picked up my wife and children and was back at the airport at quarter to seven. I took my children out of school because I wanted them to see me get this award.

Rose won in a close vote with golfer Jack Nicklaus and heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, the 1974 Hickok winner.

In balloting by sports writers and sportscasters, Rose received 31 first-place votes and 155½ points to 29 first-place votes and 131 points for Nicklaus, who won his fifth Masters and fourth PGA titles in 1975. Ali, who fought four times last year, received 21 first-place votes and 121 points.

Rose, who strengthed the Cincinnati defense by moving from the outfield to third base, batted .317 with 210 hits and 74 runs batted in, and then keyed the Reds' seven-game World Series victory over Boston by batting .370 with 10 hits.

The 33-year-old native of Cincinnati, the National League Rookie of the Year in 1963 and its Most Valuable Player in 1973, also was the Most Valuabe Player of the 1975 World Series and Sports Illustrated's Sportsman of the Year. But he was disappointed at finishing fifth in voting for the MVP award which was won by teammate Joe Morgan.

"Only one thing disappointed me in 1975," he said, "and I'm not bitter about it. But when Joe won the MVP I thought I should have been second.

"I'm a good sport but I'm a bad loser," Rose said in a preluncheon interview. "I don't like to lose. My father told me, 'Always stay in there. Always give 110 per cent.'"

Lovell-Norton bout set for national TV

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Pedro Lovell has a simple plan for beating heavily favored Ken Norton Saturday — just do it.

"The plan is to win the fight," said Lovell, shrugging off a question about strategy for the 12-round heavyweight boxing match Saturday.

"I haven't seen Norton fight," he said. "I have not watched him work out but it doesn't matter. When the bell rings, I make up my mind how to fight."

Lovell, 29, an Argentina native now living in Los Angeles, faces a challenge in Norton, a top-ranked contender looking ahead to a title shot against Muhammad Ali.

"To win the fight, you've got to be smart and in shape," said Lovell. "I'm in great shape."

The bout is to be nationally televised from the Las Vegas Convention Center by CBS-TV beginning at 5 p.m. PST.

Norton, 30, will get $100,000 for his efforts. Lovell gets $50,000.

Norton has been hoping for a title shot and said he knows he may be risking his chances should he be upset by Lovell.

But Norton isn't thinking about a loss and feels his chances are good.

"If I could sit down and talk with him I'd tell him the odds are 100 to 1 that he will win," said Norton. "But I can't be screaming at him. I'd be a cheap imitation of Muhammad Ali."

Strings open on May 12

INGLEWOOD -- The Los Angeles Strings will make their 1976 home debut at The Forum against the Phoenix Racquets and their new superstar Chris Evert on May 12, it was announced today by Strings' General Manager Bart Christensen.

The Strings will play 18 home matches at The Forum during the season, which runs from May through August. Seven of the matches will be on Fridays and another seven on Wednesday. "Hopefully this will give us some continuity," said Christensen. "We would like the fans to begin identifying Wednesdays and Fridays as tennis nights."

Evert, who will be making her World Team Tennis debut in '76, will play three times at The Forum. One of the league's other new stars, Ilie Nastase, can also be seen three times with the Hawaii Leis who already have one standard in Margaret Court.

The Western Division champion Golden Gaters are the only other team that will play the Strings three times at The Forum.

Billie Jean King and the New York Sets will make just one Forum appearance (May 19) as will Evonne Goolagong and the Pittsburgh Triangles (May 21).

Another WTT newcomer, Martina Navritalova, will join Marty Riessen and the Cleveland Nets for two Forum dates against the Strings.

Strings' season tickets, priced at $100 and $80, are currently on sale at both The Forum (674-6000) and the Strings' office (829-5391).

Frankie Duarte gets unanimous decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frankie Duarte scored knockdowns in the first and eighth rounds Thursday night en route to a unanimous decision over Seco Luna in a 10-round bantamweight match at Olympic Auditorium.

Duarte, 119, of Venice, Calif., earned his 23rd victory in 25 fights. The loss was the sixth for Luna, of Mexico, in 30 fights.

In a preliminary bout, Bernardo Mercardo, 215, of Monteria, Colombia, knocked out Marlyn Johnson, 210, of Richmond, Calif. in the first round. Mercardo is managed by Bo Belinksy, the former American League pitcher. It was Mercardo's third knockout in as many professional fights.

Angels sign six for '76

ANAHEIM — Catcher Andy Etchebarren, second baseman Jerry Remy, outfielder Lee Stanton and pitchers Jim Brewer and newly acquired Steve Dunning have all signed California SAngels contracts for 1976 according to an announcement today by Executive Vice-President and General Manager Harry Dalton.

Nolan Ryan is also in the fold, having signed a two-year agreement prior to last season.

Remy earned a berth on Topps Major League Rookie All-Star team. He hit .258, scored 82 runs and stole 34 bases for the Angels.

Stanton enjoyed his finest season in the major leagues, pacing the team with 14 home runs and 82 runs batted in.

Pitching for Denver, Dunning was selected the most valuable pitcher in the American Association. He had a 15-9 record with 16 complete games in 26 starts. He'll be vying for a spot in the Angels starting rotation this year.

Sandy Hawley gets 5 winners

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Former national riding champion Sandy Hawley booted home five winners Thursday at Santa Anita Park, taking the track lead, and Bill Shoemaker rode Approval to victory in the feature race.

Hawley, a 27-year-old Canadian jockey, won both ends of the daily double, taking the first race aboard Spanish Blonde at $8.60 and the second on Paddy Walk at $6.60.

After sitting out the third race, Hawley won the fourth on Star Belle at $16.40 and took the sixth on Ragtime Girl at $16. And he finished second by a nose aboard Deck Folley in the fifth.

Approval, a 5-year-old who was the No. 2 betting choice in the $20,000 feature race, carried Shoemaker to a 1½-length triumph in the eighth, a race in which Hawley didn't have a mount. Approval, toting 120 pounds, earned $11,000 and ran 1 1-8 miles on the turf in 1:48 3-5.

Approval paid backers $7.80, $4.60 and $3. Khaled Royal paid $6.40 and $3.20. George Navonod returned $2.40.

Hawley concluded his day by winning the ninth race on Squire Henry at $6.60 after Hircismus actually won the race but was disqualified for swerving out at the 16th-pole.

Chino loop has meeting

All parents and friends are urged to attend a general membership meeting of the Chino National Little League at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Chino High multipurpose room.

Plans for the season will be discussed as the Board of Directors will be introduced.

And it's also the winter land of baseball.

It's the city of Santo Domingo nestled among the islands of the Caribbean, where Los Angeles Dodger coach Tom Lasorda is managing the Licey club of the Domincian League in hopes of advancing to the Caribbean series to challenge champions from Puerto Rico, Venzuela and Mexico.

Lasorda currently finds himself in third place in a four-team battle involving Aguilas, Escogido and Estrellas. The first three teams enter the playoffs in hopes of advancing to the Winter World Series in the Caribbean.

"Sorda, Sorda" are the chants for the Dodgers' popular third base coach from the stands and in the street. "I've spent the last 19 Christmas holidays in Latin America as a player or manager," Toms says. "This has been my most frustrating year ever. Injuries and illnesses have hampered our club, but we'll be ready come playoff time."

Lasorda finds himself with a handful of Dodgers on his roster. Outfielder John Hale; pitchers Rick Rhoden, Charlie Hough and Stan Wall; infielders Jose Baez and Rafael Landestoy, and catchers Pablo Peguero and Paul Ray Powell are seeing plenty of playing time.

Even Manny Mota is in the swing of things as a color commentator on radio for all home games.

Hough is spending his sixth season in the Dominican, working on his knuckleball pitch.

"This is almost like the majors," Hough says. "This is the strongest Winter league I've been associated with. I come here to get more work and to do a little starting. It's been tough this Winter. I was sick for several weeks and couldn't pitch at all. But I'm regaining my form."

Young Rick Rhoden, who possibley could fill the bill as a starter for the Dodgers, has looked sharp on the mound.

The talented righthander came to the Dominican to get "a little more work" prior to Spring training. "When you come to the Domininican, baseball is your number one priority," Rhoden says. "Most of the days are spent by the pool or playing golf. There are great eating places here. Otherwise it is kind of quiet and lonely."

Outfield Hale hopes to supply the Dodgers with power in 1976; "I was disappointed last year," states Hale. "I got off to a great start and then nothing went right for me. Playing Winter baseball has helped me regain my confidence and made me a better all-around payer. This baseball is better than triple-A. I'm walking a lot more, my concentration is better and I'm more aggressive."

"Hale likes to frequent the shops during the day and has learned to play backgammon to help pass the time.

Pitcher Stan Wall wants to fill a spot in the Dodger bullpen and he's discovered his curve ball is better than ever.

Newport Bay tour offered

The Friends of Newport Bay will offer a guided tour of the state's newest ecological reserve, Upper Newport Bay, on Saturday morning, Jan. 17, during the height of the winter bird visitation.

According to Jack Spruill, wildlife biologist with the California Department of Fish and Game, the winter months are the best times for viewing the multitude of birds that sojourn at the bay.

Shore birds a visitor is most likely to see, according to Spruill, are the wading willet, the short-billed dowitcher, the western sandpiper and the marbled godwit.

Also usually present in large numbers are the semipalmated plover, the killdeer, the black-bellied plover, the long-billed curlew, the greater yellowlegs, the least sandpiper, the dunlin, the American avocet, the black-necked stilt, Wilson's phalarope and the northern phalarope.

Two species of birds classified as endangered by the California Fish and Game Commission make their homes on the small islands in the bay. They are the light-footed clapper rail and Belding's savannah sparrow.

Spruill says visitors who wish to get the most enjoyment out of bird-watching should come equipped with binoculars and, if possible, a handbook on birds. Several excellent pocketbooks are on the market.

Ray Williams, president of the Friends of Newport Bay, said tour groups will depart from the intersection of East Bluff and Back Bay drives between 9:00 and 10:30 a.m.

The walking tour along a semi-paved bayside road takes about two hours and includes stops where guides discuss the history of the bay, fossils, marsh plants, fishes, tidal mudflat organisms, shorebirds and waterfowl.

Upper Newport Bay, now managed by the California Department of Fish and Game, is considered to be the most important estuarine habitat from Morro Bay to the Mexican border. It serves as a spawning ground and nursery for numerous forms of marine life and as a home or resting place for thousands of birds.

From Los Angeles or San Diego, Upper Newport Bay is reached by taking the San Diego Freeway (Route 405) to the Jamboree Road exit, then traveling west about three miles to the East Bluff Drive traffic signal. Back Bay Drive is about one-eighth mile from there.

Palomino is 6-5 favorite

Los Angeles — Carlos Palomino has opened a 6-5 favorite over Hedgemon Lewis for their 10 round welterweight rematch at the Olympic Auditorium January 22.

Last November 22 the pair fought to a 10 round draw at the Olympic. The January 22 winner will face newly crowned welterweight champ John Stracey of England this summer in a 15 round title match. Stracey's manager Terry Lawless and British promoter Mickey Duff will attend the Palomino-Lewis match.

Both Olympic Boxing Club promoter Aileen Eaton and Duff will bid for Stracey to meet either Palomino or Lewis.

New U.S. Supreme Court Justice John Stevens of Chicago once acted as the attorney for Charley Finley, owner of the Oakland As baseball team.

Irvine Lake set to open

ORANGE — The reservation rate for the opening weekend at Irvine Lake is increasing daily, according to lake manager Mrs. Alice Carlson, as the lake prepares to open its 1976 fishing season on January 16.

Mrs. Carlson says there are still "plenty" of boats and motors available for the first long weekend of fishing — January 16 through 18 — but she still advises fishermen who want to be assured of a boat and motor for the big opener to make their paid reservations soon.

Reservation information and procedures can be obtained by phoning the lake office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. The telephone number is (714) 633-1520.

The opening weekend at the lake traditionally attracts a large crowd, due mainly to the big numbers of rainbow trout planted prior to the debut. This year, lake consessioner Russ Cleary hopes to include some true trophy-size trout (ranging from 4 to over 6 pounds) in the 4,000 to 6,000 pounds of fish planted before the gates open.

Irvine Lake will again operate on a Friday through Wednesday schedule, from dawn until dusk. The lake will be closed on Thursdays so that trout planted on that day will have a chance to disperse in the lake.

No rate increase will be in effect this season for gate entrance, private boat launching or boat and motor rentals, Cleary said.

Stock car featured at Auto Show

Number One is a race-ready Dodge two-door hardtop built by the legendary Petty Enterprises racing shop in Randleman, N.C. Every detail that makes Petty's cars top competitors on the Winston Cup circuit has been incorporated into Number One. The body, chassis, suspension, cooling system, rear end and fuel tanks are either modified or reinforced to meet both performance and safety standards prescribed by NASCAR, sanctioning body for Winston Cup races. Unlike "typical" show cars, it is not just a vehicle painted to resemble a racing bomb, but is actually a finely prepared piece of machinery capable of speeds of up to 200 miles per hour on Daytona's and Talladega's high-banked ovals and 145-mph plus lap averages over Riverside Raceways road-racing circuit, scene of action Jan. 17 and 18 for the Permatex 200 and Winston Western 500.

Although Winston No. 1 "resembles" a street machine, the red, white and gold stocker packs a 500-plus horsepower wallop in its 355CID V-8. Like all Winston Cup circuit entries, it has two shock absorbers per wheel, a heavy-duty four-on-the-floor manual transmission with a Hurst shifter and front-mounted specially designed water and oil radiators. The cooling system has a 21-quart capacity, higher than that of a standard car.

Winston No. 1 utilizes a special fuel cell, 22-gallon capacity, lined with a rubber bladder to prevent explosion - a method required by NASCAR on Grand National cars. Goodyear racing tires, 800-820 x 15 on 9 and ½ inch rims are used on the landbound racing bolide.

Endorsed by the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers Association, the '76 Show features the widest possible spectrum of automobiles and related products to be viewed under one roof. Besides displays of every domestic and import car make, the Show will feature sports and open-wheeled, as well as stock, racing cars; dragsters; hot rods; vans and classics plus personal appearances, during the 10-day automotive extravaganza of famous racing celebrities.

Hours are from 11 AM to 11 PM Saturdays, 11 AM to 10 PM Sundays; 5 to 11 PM Monday through Friday. Preview night, open to the public, will be 7 to 11 PM Friday, January 23.

DFG to reveal mt. lion study

Results of the Department of Fish and Game's four-and-a-half year study of mountain lions will be outlined Saturday when the Southern California Wildlife Conservation Council meets in Upland.

Wildlife manager Richard Weaver of Sacramento, in charge of the DFG's lion studies, will explain the department's current program in Monterey County where lions are captured, tagged or equipped with radio collars and released. One of the chief purposes of the study is to learn more about mountain lion habits, distances they travel and the amount of range they occupy.

In California, mountain lions have been fully protected since 1971 when the legislature placed a moratorium on lion hunting. At the same time, legislators directed the DFG to undertake studies to determine the number of lions in the state and to develop a plan for managing the lion population. The department plans to present its management plan to the legislature later this month.

During 1973 the department completed the first part of its studies and estimated the statewide lion population at 2,400 animals.

The second part of the study was undertaken in a 175 square mile area in Monterey County to develop improved means of studying lions and additional methods of determining their numbers.

Members of the wildlife conservation council also will hear a report on the effects of predation by coyotes and hawks and eagles on wildlife populations from Carol Ferrel, wildlife biologist from the DFG's Sacramento headquarters staff.

Also on the agenda are a report on wild horses and burros in California and a review of wildlife studies being conducted by colleges and universities.

DFG offers weapons training

If Christmas has brought a new gun or archery equipment into your home, prepare now to train the owner — adult or youngster — to handle it safely.

The Department of Fish and Game says the best way to get the training is through the standard hunter safety training course.

Firearms and bow and arrow safety, the DFG says, is not just for the hunter but for all shooters, although hunters pay the bills for the training.

The training also qualifies successful students — adults and youngsters — for the purchase of their first California hunting license.

California's hunter safety training program, second in the nation and the first to require training for adults, was inaugurated in 1954. Directed by the DFG and staffed by highly qualified volunteer instructors, it has trained well over 800,000 persons in safe hunting practices, sportsmanship and the principles of conservation.

Rogers sets pace in scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Marshall Rogers of Pan American University, the ninth leading scorer among major college basketball players last season, is running well ahead in a bid to win the title this year.

The 6-foot-2 senior from St. Louis, who averaged 26.7 points per game during the 1974-75 campaign, has a 34.5 mark this season, according to NCAA figures released Thursday.

Freeman Williams of Portland State was in second place with a 31.4 average, followed by Kenny Carr of North Carolina State at 29.9, Todd Tripucka of Lafayette at 28.9 and Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame at 28.3.

The team leaders included: Maryland, field goal accuracy, .593; Nevada-Las Vegas, scoring, 108.1 points; Princeton, defense, 55.4 points, and Central Michigan, free throw percentage, .824.

The scoring leaders:

	FG	FT	Pts.	Avg.
Rogers, Pan American	125	59	309	34.5
Williams, Portland St.	150	45	345	31.4
Carr, N. Carolina St.	103	63	269	29.9

Colleges are happy with pros

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The relationship of college baseball coaches and the major leagues is at "an all-time high," an official of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches said Thursday.

"We're very happy with professional baseball," said University of Illinois Coach Lee Eilbracht, secretary-treasurer of the coaches' group which was to begin its 31st annual convention here tonight.

About 1,000 coaches were expected to take part in the four-day convention. The coaches plan to exchange ideas and techniques and also prepare recommendations for the NCAA's annual convention here next week.

Eilbracht's enthusiasm stemmed from the major leagues decision at a recent Florida meeting to eliminate collegians from the winter draft and select them in June only after completion of their junior seasons.

In the past, college coaches had been upset when major league clubs drafted top players in January and immediately signed them to professional contracts.

Former Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams is scheduled to speak Friday night on the art of hitting, while three members of the St. Louis Cardinals—Ted Simmons, Lou Brock and Al Hrabosky—are also to conduct clinics.

Also slated to give talks are former major league players now in collegiate coaching— Woody Woodward of Florida State, Vernon Law of Brigham Young, Dick Siebert of Minnesota and Jerry Kindall of Arizona.

Eilbracht said the coaches planned to urge the NCAA to rescind a rule limiting travel rosters to 18 players and to reject a proposal limiting the number of playing dates to 36.

Rangers call goaltender

Ralph, 23, replaces John Davidson, who is expected to be sidelined for two months after suffering a fractured right leg in Sunday's National Hockey League game against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Haywood not fond of Russell

SEATTLE (AP) — Spencer Haywood, former Seattle SuperSonic star, marked his first appearance in Seattle as a New York Knick by saying he was a man and Sonic Coach Bill Russell wanted a boy.

"Russell could not have me around any more," Haywood said before the Sonics' National Basketball Association game with New York Wednesday night, won by Seattle 91-89.

"I'm a man and he's a man, but he wants boys around men," Haywood said. "There's no superstar allowed in Seattle—only Russell."

The gifted forward expressed resentment that the club "tried to build up the idea...that I wanted out." It was the Sonics who initiated the trade with New York at the beginning of the season.

"Russell initiated the trade, right after last season," Haywood said. "I know damned well he did. The management in New York told me that. All of a sudden I became a villain because I wanted to go to a nice place."

He also bridled at criticism that he wasn't "appealing" to fans.

"You can't appeal to everybody," Haywood said. "You just want to gain their respect. You have to be a man. They couldn't call me 'boy' and kiss me on the head."

He added, "They're nice fans in Seattle, but they have a lot to learn. I was totally embarrassed by what happened with Golden State in the playoffs last year (when the fans became so boisterous both officials and Warriors needed police protection).

"Players around the league say Seattle's fans are bush," the sixth-year forward said. "I defend them. I tell the other players the people in Seattle are just enthusiastic."

Haywood said Russell destroyed other former Sonics, including Jim McDaniels, John Brisker, Mahdi Abdul-Rahman and Kennedy McIntosh.

"I felt if he treated others this way, he would try to crucify me," said Haywood. "Leonard Gray and Fred Brown are carrying that club. I hope they don't destroy them."

He also said: "I played five years there, did more things, played more minutes, played more positions, than anyone else in the league, and that includes Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Unfortunately, we couldn't win a championship. But we didn't have the other players, either."

Wednesday night in his Seattle homecoming with the Knicks Haywood was booed throughout the game.

He fouled out with two minutes left and scored only six points.

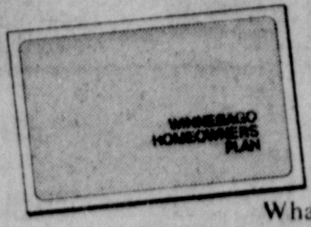
Compare protection after the sale:



What happens after you drive your new motor home off your dealer's lot? That's a very big question, because a motor home is a very big investment. At Winnebago, we think we offer you more protection for that investment than any other motor home manufacturer. It's called the Winnebago Homeowners Plan.

BETTER PROTECTION

Winnebago's limited warranty is designed to comply with recent Federal legislation. Further, we've made some substantial improvements. Items previously covered for only 90 days are now included in our standard 12-month/12,000-mile coverage periods. This includes carpets, electrical systems, plumbing, seats, cushion fabrics and windows.

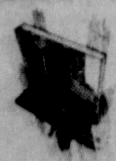
SERVICE, SERVICE EVERYWHERE

No one buys a motor home to sit in the driveway. So Winnebago has put together a network of over 300 service centers. From coast to coast across the U.S., even in Canada and Alaska.

A FRIEND AT THE FACTORY

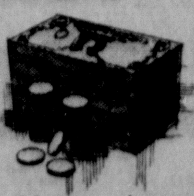
If a Winnebago owner ever has any questions, suggestions or complaints, he can get in touch with our Customer Relations Department at Headquarters in Forest City, Iowa.

SAFETY FIRST



You'd never hoist your motor home several feet in the air and then deliberately drop it. But that's what Winnebago did recently to prove the structural integrity of their exclusive Thermo-Steel™ construction. That test is only one part of an extensive safety program initiated by Winnebago.

MORE MONEY BACK



Every smart homeowner should consider resale value. Based on a comparison of three-year-old motor home prices in the May-August, 1975 N.A.D.A. Recreational Vehicle Appraisal Guide, Winnebago held a higher resale value than the average of all listed competitive models.

Only Winnebago offers you the Homeowners Plan with any new 1976 model you choose!

Compare features:

Winnebago listens to what owners of different brands of motor homes say they want and need. Last year, we listened to more than 3000 of them, all across the U.S. We heard their compliments and complaints loud and clear. That's why this year's Winnebagos bring you more practical, livable features than ever before.

IMPROVED CAPACITY FOR WATER, GAS AND HOLDING TANKS

It's no fun to run out of gas or water or be stuck with a full holding tank when you're off the beaten path on your own. So we've redesigned our tanks to give you more water and holding capacity on several models. And now, some Winnebagos carry up to 65 gallons of gasoline.

BETTER STORAGE SPACE INSIDE AND OUT

When you go Winnebago, you don't have to travel light. To our already generous inside storage, we've added extra tuck-away space in places like new bunk/cabinets and dinette seat backs. Many models also feature a full-length wardrobe plus roll-out pantry shelves.

Outside, there's weathertight storage space on every model. The Custom even boasts a separate, key-locked trunk.

NEW OPEN-SPACE FLOOR PLANS

This year, Winnebago offers 16 different floor plans, including several aimed specifically at creating an open, uncrowded look. Divider curtains push back to open up large living and entertaining areas; closed, they provide sleeping and dressing privacy.

MORE BUILT-IN LIVABILITY

On the advice of people who actually travel and live in their motor homes, we've made dozens more "little" changes that add up to a big improvement in comfort and convenience.

A low door step, padded cabinet ends and corners save you nasty head bumps when entering. Cabinets and drawers latch securely for traveling, yet open easily with one hand. Improved venting carries moisture and odors away, yet keeps bugs outside. Other improvements include single dump outlets, simplified wiring, spacemaking countertop arrangements. And several models now feature tub/shower compartments separate from the rest of the bathroom.

The more you live in a new Winnebago, the more you'll like its thoughtful features.

Quick facts for motor home buyers.

MORE REPEAT BUYERS

More Winnebago owners purchase Winnebagos a second or third time than do owners of any other motor home brand. And a higher percentage of Winnebago owners said they would recommend their choice of motor homes to their friends.

NUMBER ONE IN QUALITY

In a recent nationwide survey, motor home owners (of all makes) ranked Winnebago first in quality and first in service as well.

EQUALIZED FREIGHT RATES

Winnebago has now averaged out freight rates all across the country. You pay the same $100 shipping cost no matter where in the U.S. you live (except in Alaska or Hawaii). The same $100 cost applies throughout Canada.

New 23-ft. Minnie Winnie.

MORE SPACE, MORE BUILT-IN VALUE

Some of the extra space comes from the extra length of this new mini motor home, but that's not all. Now, a cab roof cutout gives you stand-up, walk-through passage to the living area. Inside headroom is 6'8" rear, 6'11" front.

Our 23RB model also boasts a separate tub and shower compartment and an enlarged front bunk. Double sink, 4-burner stove and 6 c.f. refrigerator are standard.

See the exciting Custom Elán dan!

This new limited edition Winnebago is 29 feet of plush comfort, sleek style and modern convenience. It's loaded with luxury features like copper-inlaid counter top, thick, sculptured carpeting, soft, natural leather upholstery and walnut walls and cabinetry throughout. Quadraphonic sound system and color TV are also included.

Ask your dealer for showing dates and availability of the Elán dan. Manufacturer's suggested list price: $44,323 ($100 freight included. Taxes, dealer preparation charge extra.)

Q. "HOW DID THE WHITE RHINOCEROS GET ITS NAME?"

A. SQUARE-LIPPED RHINOS ARE KNOWN AS WHITE RHINOS. THE NAME "WHITE" IS A CORRUPTION OF "WYT," THE AFRIKAAN WORD FOR "WIDE," REFERRING TO THE ANIMAL'S WIDE LIPS.

Among other differences, the white and black rhinoceroses have differently shaped mouths.

More properly called a "square-lipped" rhinoceros, the white rhino is a grazer. It mows the grass much like a cow, seizing the grass with its wide lips and tearing it off.

The black rhino is the one most often seen in zoos. It is recognized by its peculiar upper lip which comes to a point, and is sometimes called a "hook-lipped" rhinoceros.

Unlike the white, the black rhino is a browser. It feeds on vegetation by grasping the leaves and twigs with its flexible upper lip.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Three plays at Claremont

Three student-directed one-act plays will be presented by the Four Colleges Players of Claremont Men's, Harvey Mudd, Pitzer and Scripps colleges this month.

At 8 p.m. Jan. 16 through 18 in the Strut and Fret Theater of Scripps, "Resume" and "The Measure" will take the stage. "The Yellow Wallpaper" will be presented there at 8 p.m. Jan. 22-24.

Scripps senior Evanne Christian will direct her one-act "Resume." She directed "An Evening of Dorothy Parker" last October for the Four Colleges Players.

"Resume" concludes the senior's research into the works of the famous woman author, focusing on a love affair experienced by Miss Parker.

In the play within a play, revolutionaries liberate a nation and return to tell about it and why they had to kill one of their own during the liberation. Playing the varied roles and even taking the part of such props as tables and chairs are Scripps students Mimi Brewster, Ann Cahouet, Jackie Gabrielson and Jan Galitz and CMC sophomore Bruce Isaacson. Cotten will provide musical accompaniment.

Miss Obrow will direct Charlotte Perkins Gillman's "The Yellow Wallpaper" as a joint project for drama and a course on "History of Women in the United States."

She has adapted the feminist short story written in the 1890s into play form. The story concerns a young wife and mother suffering from neuresthenia or nervous exhaustion.

Pitzer sophomore Amy Gerstler plays the heroine. Other cast members are Stan Ransom and Donna Aboff, a Pitzer sophomore. Scripps freshman Cindy Cannell is stage manager.

Tickets for the trio may be obtained at the door. Students of the Four Colleges will be admitted free. Other college students and Claremont Colleges faculty and staff will be charged $1. General admission is $2.

JAMES STEWART

Stewart, Copland in concert

Actor James Stewart will join composer Aaron Copland and the Los Angeles Master Chorale and Sinfonia Orchestra Thursday to premire a special Bicentennial concert program at Ambassador Auditorium in Pasadena.

The special Bicentennial program will feature Copland conducting four of his own patriotic compositions: "In the Beginning," with Claudine Carlson, mezzo-soprano as soloist; "Canticle of Freedom;" "Preamble" narrated by James Stewart; and both sets of "Old American Songs."

A special feature of this concert will be "Missa Carminum" (folk song Mass) which was completed last August by local composer Paul Chihara and dedicated to Roger Wagner and the chorale. This performance, conducted by Wagner, will be the world premire of this work.

Stewart will also narrate Lalo Shifrin's "Madrigals for the Space Age," set to poems by the American author Ray Bradbury.

The special Bicentennial concert is being sponsored by the Ambassador International Cultural Foundation as part of the 1975-76 season. Single tickets are $8.75.

Auditions for 'Canterbury Tales' extended

Auditions will be held Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the theater, 132 E. Third St., Pomona.

Men and women 20 and older are needed for the production. Those auditioning should have a song prepared. Musicians, particularly brass, are also needed.

"Canterbury Tales" is a musical comedy based on the ribald classic work of the same name by Geoffrey Chaucer. The modern language adaptation was written by Nevhill Coghill.

The tales are stories of love and romance told by a group of English pilgrims on a journey to the shrine of St. Thomas Becket. They include "The Steward's Tale," "The Merchant's Tale," "The Wife of Bath's Tale" and the infamous "Miller's Tale."

Persons wishing additional information may call Smithson, (213) 964-4258 or VCT, 622-6954.

Baker-Previn recital slated

A limited number of seats are available for the celebrity recital by British mezzo-soprano Dame Janet Baker and pianist Andre Previn Monday at the Music Center Pavilion in Los Angeles.

This will be one of the renowned singer's first appearances since she was awarded the Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire. This is the female equivalent of knighthood, one of the highest honors bestowed by the British Crown.

Long a favorite of Los Angeles audiences, the mezzo will sing arias by Cavalli, a solo cantata by Haydn and songs by Schubert, Liszt, Debussy and Faure.

Tickets can be purchased at the Music Center's Philharmonic box office from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday and Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. Sundays and at all Wallich's, Liberty and Mutual agencies.

Gena Rowlands signs for film

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gena Rowlands, Academy nominee for best actress last year for her performance in "A Woman Under the Influence," has been signed to appear in Universal Picture's "Two Minute Warning."

The actress joins a cast that includes Charlton Heston, Jack Klugman, Marilyn Hassett and John Cassavetes, who directed Miss Rowlands in "A Woman under the Influence"

'Kojak' now in musical

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television's "Kojak," Telly Savalas, will take on a new guise when he stars in his own musical variety special on CBS Feb. 18.

The show will be called "Telly...Who Loves Ya, Baby." The producer is Howard Koch.

3 classic pictures scheduled

"Duck Soup," "Grapes of Wrath" and "Mail Pilot" will be shown Jan. 18 as the fifth performance of the American Image Film Festival, presented by the Claremont Bicentennial Performing Arts Committee in cooperation with the Claremont School of Theology Arts Film Council.

The showing will be in the Mudd Communications Building at 7:40 p.m. in the School of Theology. Admission is $1.50 for general public and $1 for students.

"Duck Soup" is a Marx Brothers comedy and John Ford's "Grapes of Wrath" deals with the Great Depression and the problems of migrant workers.

"Mail Pilot" is an early Disney film.

Student's thesis booked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's not often that a college student's master thesis gets a booking in a movie theater. That has happened to Jeff Mandel of UCLA.

His 20-minute film, "Sonic Boom," opened at Mann's Westwood Theater to qualify for the annual race of the Academy awards. The film is described as a satire on disaster movies, and Mandel induced a number of film figures to appear in it. Among them: George Kennedy, Jonathan Winters, Joann Pflug, Sal Mineo, Dick Martin, David and Rick Nelson, Lyle Talbot, Tom and Mark Harmon and Kent McCord. All donated their services.

DUO-PIANISTS—Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe will present a concert of American music at 8 p.m. Jan. 16 in the Citrus College Auditorium, Azusa. The program will feature works by Scott Joplin, George Gershwin, Cole Porter and Richard Rodgers.

'The Rainmaker' auditions slated

Auditions for the Gallery Theater's production of "The Rainmaker" will be held Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Ontario theater at C and Lemon streets.

Parts to be filled are six males, ages 18 to 50, and one female, age 24 to 30. The show is scheduled to open Feb. 20 for a seven-week run.

Neil Simon's comedy "Barefoot in the Park" is currently playing each Friday and Saturday night at 8.

RESTAURANT AND NIGHT LIFE

CHINESE FOOD is the specialty of the house at Chung King Restaurant, 280 W. Third, Pomona. The well-established Chinese restaurant also offers food to go and American foods, and is a popular choice of many downtown Pomonans.

NEW ENTERTAINER to the Valley is Jay Eubanks, vocalist and instrumentalist at The Arbor in Upland. Jay has worked extensively in the northwest United States and plays danceable tunes for all ages, from standards to rock.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

This week something new has moved into the valley. That's the name of a group, "Something New" . . . a collection of four talented performers who are bringing some mellow sounds to the Boiler Room in Claremont.

They opened Tuesday night to a good-sized if rather tentative crowd at the unique little club in the bowels of Griswold's Old School House. Focal point of the group (to me, anyway) is lead singer Judy Duvall, blond and beautiful. Her vocal interpretations were appropriately and professionally sensitive or brash, and she also plays the organ, piano, clarinet and saxophone. Judy is ably backed by Leslie Milton on drums, John Schmidt on bass and Steve Gargus on the organ. They all double on different instruments, giving "Something New" a versatility which extends their repertoire to include many kinds of music, from top 40 and standards to jazz, from rock and roll to country ballads. As I see it, "Something New" is off to a good start at the Boiler Room and I hope they'll be around for awhile. They perform six nights a week, Tuesdays through Sundays, 9 to 2. (Incidentally, if you're a Papa Bill's regular you might remember that "Something New" played there for awhile last summer.)

I want to thank reader Frank Donadee for his tips regarding restaurants in the area. He's had good things to say about the food at Sarita's Mexican Restaurant at 528 W. Holt in Pomona, and about the Village Inn in La Verne where, says Frank, "the blueberry pancakes are great." I also had a call assuring me that I was "missing A bet" by not having dined at The Mansion(?) in Mira Loma. Although this is a bit out of my territory at present, I must confess that I'm tempted to nose around out there a bit. But the thought also occurred to me that maybe YOU have been there and would be willing to tell me about it. So tell me.

Time rather got away from me last Saturday night at Love's Wood Pit Barbecue in Pomona. I was engaged in several pleasant pastimes, conversation with a special friend, lingering over a delightful dinner, and enjoying the warmth of the Love's atmosphere. Though the fare (beans and franks) certainly wasn't very sophisticated, it was certainly good. Suddenly I realized two hours has passed and I was late for a very important date . . . with Judy and Stephen, the folksingers at Adrian's in La Verne.

I've talked about Judy and Stephen before, but I went to Adrian's again last week because I just plain like their music. They bring a seriousness to their performance which commands silence and respect for their art, but it's something else between numbers. And so it was that I was sitting there when Judy was saying something, trying to be serious. I say "trying" because she seems to have a double problem in this regard . . . trying to BE serious, and trying to convince the audience that she IS serious. But finally it came out, though I haven't a prayer of relating it to you as she said it! But her thought was good and she expressed an unspoken sentiment of most performers.

In pointing out the difference between American and European audiences, she related a personal experience she'd had in Austria. She attended an opera there and the tenor's jitters were apparent in the first part of his performance. Instead of eggs and verbal brickbats, the audience threw its support by applauding his efforts. His response to the audience's encouragement was to return in the second part to give the best performance of his career. The point was, and is, that performers, like ballplayers, respond positively to the encouragement of a supportive audience.

NEWS 'N NOTES

Bob and Jeanine Parsons have again taken over the operation of Chanelq's, 1170 E. Holt, Pomona, after a short absence. Bob promises that he's bringing back the original spaghetti menu so popular with the customers of the Italian restaurant. They are working hard to re-open next Tuesday, Jan. 13, and we're all invited. (Where are we all going to fit, Bob?)

Some good things are happening at Tiffiny's in North Pomona. New owner Javid Mansouri has come in with a new menu featuring dinners priced well below what they were. AND he promises more quantity and better quality. The night spot, one of the most glamorous in the Valley, is located at the corner of Garey and Foothill, and is currently showcasing Sidro's Armada.

RESTAURANT AND NIGHT LIFE

BARTENDER FRED IRETON pours the drinks at The Castle, 540 E. Foothill, Pomona. The wine served by waitress Joan Chappie will add that special touch to the French oriented cuisine featured at the restaurant.

"SOMETHING NEW" drummer Leslie Milton sizzles in patriotic rendition of "2001 Space Oddessy" in the group's debut at Claremont's Boiler Room Tuesday night.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RESOLUTION AND NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SOLICIT PROPOSALS FOR THE OPERATION OF THE DIAMOND BAR GOLF COURSE GOLF PROFESSIONAL CONCESSION

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, has found that the public interest and welfare will be served by the solicitation of proposals for the operation of the golf pro shop, driving range and cartmobile rental operation at the Diamond Bar Golf Course;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as follows:

1. That it is the intention of the County of Los Angeles, Facilities Department, on the 4th day of February, 1976, prior to 5:00 p.m., in its offices at 780 Hall of Administration, Los Angeles, California 90012, to receive proposals for the operation of the golf pro shop and driving range located at the Diamond Bar Golf Course, 22751 East Golden Springs Drive, Pomona, California. The purpose of this Resolution and Notice of Intention is not to solicit formal bids, but to request proposals to operate the facilities described above.

2. Selection of the best responsible proposal will be based upon the following criteria:

(a) Proposer's experience in operating the facilities as required by County.

(b) The quality and nature of the equipment and programs to be provided by the proposer.

(c) The percentage of gross revenue to be paid to the County as rent. Minimum percentages acceptable to the County have been established as follows:

Merchandise Sales 4%
Driving Range 20% of first $50,000 annually, 25% thereafter
Cartmobiles 25% of first $50,000 annually, 40% thereafter

(d) The financial responsibility of the proposer.

3. Said concession shall be operated for (1) the sale, rental, storage and/or repair of all items relating to the game of golf; the teaching and instruction of golf, provided the instructors are approved in advance by the Director of Parks and Recreation as to their qualifications to provide said service; (2) the operation of the driving range, golf shop, storage and workshop areas and the cartmobile storage and patio areas; and (3) the rental of power driven cartmobiles.

4. All equipment necessary for the satisfactory operation of the golf pro shop, driving range and cartmobile rental operation and all necessary supplies will be furnished by concessionaire.

5. Concessionaire and his agents or employees shall at all times comply with and abide by all rules and regulations heretofore adopted or that may hereafter be adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said County and/or Directors of the Facilities Department and Department of Parks and Recreation.

6. The concessionaire's minimal hours of operation will be dawn to dusk every day of the week.

7. County shall provide the premises as shown on Exhibit "A" in the proposal package.

8. The proposal package will be on file in the offices of the Facilities Department, 780 Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, and will be made available to any and all prospective proposers prior to the date set by the Board of Supervisors for the opening of the proposals. The final concession agreement will contain substantially the same provisions as the sample concession agreement. Said proposal form and concession agreement contain in detail all of the terms and conditions pertaining to the operation of the concession and all proposers shall be deemed to have notice, constructive or otherwise, of said terms and conditions.

9. Proposers must satisfy themselves by personal examination of the location of the concession and by such other means as they may prefer as to the conditions and requirements of the operation of the concession.

10. QUALIFICATIONS OF COUNTY GOLF PROFESSIONALS

a. Must have a minimum of three (3) years' experience as the Professional-In-Charge of the operation and management of a golf pro shop, including instruction of golf during this period at a regulation 9- or 18-hole course, or five (5) years' experience as an Assistant Golf Professional, which experience must include some management of a shop at a similar golf course.

b. Must offer proof that he has taken and satisfactorily completed courses equal to a college level on the following subjects:

1. Basic Bookkeeping; posting, preparation of a trial balance; preparation of financial statements; control of cash and bank reconciliation statements.

2. Salesmanship; fundamentals of retail, wholesale and service selling; merchandise and sales presentation; principles of self-management; sales demonstration.

3. Personnel Management; the guidance and control of personnel; interviewing; training; job analysis; rating; supervisory problems with subordinate personnel.

c. In lieu of any of the above three listed educational courses, additional years of experience as described under (1) above may be substituted on the basis of one year for each category or course as set forth in (2) above.

d. Must possess the necessary line of credit to equip and operate the golf shop.

e. Must possess a competent past record of employment as a golf professional as verified and supported by references, letters and other necessary evidence from all employers.

f. In the event a corporation is bidding to operate a golf professional shop, said corporation must verify that the person employed as a head professional or manager of the shop must meet the above-listed qualifications to the satisfaction of the Director of the Department of Parks and Recreation.

11. Each proposer shall furnish the following information with his sealed proposal:

Financial Statement — A full and detailed presentation of proposer's assets, liabilities and net worth.

General Business Statement — A statement of all of the important business activities of proposer's major business life, emphasizing proposer's experience in the operation of golf shop facilities.

Personal References — A minimum of five (5) personal references, giving names, addresses and telephone numbers in each instance.

Credit References — A minimum of five (5) credit or financial references giving names, addresses and telephone numbers in each instance.

Experience — A full statement of proposer's experience in the operation and maintenance of a golf pro shop and driving range as described in Section 10 above. It is most important that this statement be up to the last date of such enterprise.

Equipment and Inventory — A program of equipment and inventory to be furnished by concessionaire with the cost of furnishing said program.

12. The filing of such statements shall constitute permission by the proposer for the County to check, verify and have certified all information contained in such statements. If the County desires, additional information may be requested from the proposer. Failure to comply with any such request may disqualify any proposer from further consideration.

13. Sealed proposals must be filed in the offices of the Facilities Department of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, 780 Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The final acceptance of any proposal may be made at any meeting of the County Board of Supervisors within sixty (60) days after receipt of said proposals as recommended by the Director of Facilities or within such longer period as may be deemed reasonable by said Director.

14. No oral proposals will be considered by the Facilities Department. In the event the County accepts any proposal, a concession agreement shall be awarded to the person who submits the best responsible proposal, in the sole judgment of the County. The County reserves the right to reject any and all proposals.

15. Each proposal must be accompanied by a Cashier's Check or a check certified by a responsible bank in the County of Los Angeles and payable to said County in the amount of $2,000 as a guarantee proposer will execute the concession agreement if same is awarded to such proposer. This guarantee will be applied toward, but shall not be considered a limitation upon, any damage which may be sustained by the County if proposer fails to so comply.

The foregoing Resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, on the 23rd day of December, 1975.

JAMES S. MIZE, Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, and ex-officio clerk of the governing body of all other special assessment and taxing districts for which said Board so acts.
